

C. OF C. HAS RALLY FOR MEMBERSHIP

Business Men to Go After More for the Ranks of Important Organization and Swell the Roll During Period of Plan

Gathering at Session Told of Important Work Under Way and Need to Increase Active List of Workers for Good

Plans for the membership campaign of the Chamber of Commerce, to be carried out by the membership council of the Chamber of Commerce, were actively started today with the sending out of hundreds of circular letters, in a "follow-up" movement for membership.

District divisions were made last Monday in the Commercial Club grill to outline the actual work of the deputies and the "Minute Men" who will cover the city by districts, following up the letter campaign with personal calls and actual contact with the prospective members.

The first details of the big campaign were outlined at the first of the season's sessions of the membership council when, in the main dining room of the Hotel Oakland, the Chamber members and business men from all parts of the city gathered to discuss the important work. The meeting was important for several reasons.

First, the announcement was made by Monroe F. Flower, president of the Automobile Club of America, that the organization would at once build in Oakland, on the Lincoln Highway, a 40,000 clubhouse, one of a chain of forty such buildings throughout the United States. The membership council also heard the details of the campaign for the trans-bay bridge, which was discussed by O. E. Hotte, chairman of the joint committee of the east bay Chambers of Commerce, which is handling the campaign on this side of the bay.

Poetmaster Joseph J. Rosborough outlined the details of the membership campaign. He described the latter campaign as a "follow-up" movement for membership. He said that the first step was to mail to prospects, simply to let them know that something of extreme importance to them will come in the next mail. The next letter has a "debit and credit" sheet of the Chamber, showing that has been under taken and what accomplished by the organization to date.

CITY DISTRICTED.

The city, in the meantime, has been divided into districts, with a "district deputy" and five "minute men" in each. These will call personally on every prospect, urging membership in the chamber. Many of the prospects of the last year's campaign, not yet approached on account of the summer holidays, will be called upon at once. Many new prospects have also been listed. A large number of new memberships, brought in voluntarily, were announced at the session.

"We started our campaign in San Francisco," said George Rees, president to tell of the work of the San Francisco chamber, "with a luncheon for 200 business men, similar to this one. Here we resolved to make the San Francisco chamber the largest in the state and set for ourselves a standard of 5000 members in four days. Our success is now known to all. A quick campaign has been achieved, results, and thorough and efficient organization is the keynote."

O. E. Hotte, chairman of the bridge committee, told of the progress of the organization and spoke at length of the desirability of the trans-bay bridge.

NEED UNION DEPOT.

The principal need in Oakland, he declared, is centralization of traffic. He said:

At the present time traffic is sucked from every point in Oakland away from the common center. The Key Route takes the travelers from Piedmont in one way, and the other line in another. The Oakland mole is hauled as the Oakland terminal for the transcontinental lines; but what good does it do us as a business center? It is a dead end. But if we had a break, if the people could be brought to a union station, and then across the bay, as contemplated in the bridge plan, Oakland would benefit incalculably. It has been said that it would give San Francisco a great terminal, too. What do we care, if we have one, and San Francisco's count is nothing? It has been argued that the bridge might destroy our differentials. Well—charge five dollars a car over the bridge, then.

Rees said that, as you know, has been held up, and because Colonel Rees can see no practical way of shortening the Key Route plan. This will actually plan to make this wonderful plan a possibility.

LABOR NOTES

The Union Labor League will meet tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, 1110 Broadway, when a number of important matters in connection with the campaign for the trans-bay bridge will be discussed. William A. Spooner and several others will be heard.

Plans for a preparatory class, in which foreigners desiring to join the union may be instructed in the use of the English language, are being completed by the Janitors and Porters union. Many men in the craft, it has been discovered by officers of the union, are foreigners, and many not citizens. To prepare these men to become citizens, a "citizenship school," to be taught by members of the union, is to be held as soon as arrangements can be made.

Reports of a sermon by Rev. A. W. Palmer, in which he declared himself a friend of organized labor and stated that only collective bargaining could protect the workman, has been sent by the Central Labor Council to American Federation of Labor headquarters, and will be used in propaganda work, according to Secretary W. A. Spooner of the Central Council.

Saloon and employes, Asiatic porters and janitors will be picketed after September 21, it was announced today by the Central Labor Council, following the vote taken by the Janitors and Porters' union. The union voted to picket without opposition.

The fourth annual ball of Carmen's Union, Division 192, will be held Saturday night in the Municipal Auditorium. The affair will be one of the largest of its kind ever held by a union in this country, according to the plans of the committee. The grand march will start at 9:30 o'clock. Invitations have been sent to public officials, union labor leaders and prominent people.

That the membership of unions affiliated with the Building Trades Council has increased thirty per cent in the report issued by Secretary Fred H. Pratt of the organization, has been carried by an active membership campaign among workmen, urging them to join the unions of their craft.

Business Agent J. S. Donohue of the Council is taking steps to adjust a difficulty between the Builders and the street car company. The tools, buckets, and hods of the workmen are declared to be a nuisance when carried on cars. The men declare they have no other way to get their tools to their work. A conference will be held to settle the matter.

CITE DANGERS OF ESTUARY BRIDGES

Col. Thomas H. Rees Presides at Public Hearing of Pressing Problem

ahead under a slow bell. As the bridge refused to open he was caught between the two bridges on a flood tide and was fastly being hoisted by a vessel from being carried against the railroad bridge. We have had to refuse the freighting of lumber above the bridges on account of the extra delay.

Little River Steamship Company—Our steamer Washington had on board some lumber for the Hunter Lumber Company and for the Horan Lumber Company. Ordinarily it should take a steamer only from ten to fifteen minutes to go from one of these docks to the other, but in the above instance the Washington consumed a full hour.

ANOTHER ACCIDENT.

Robert Dollar Company—On June 13, 1914, while turning around to make a landing at Hunter's wharf, the ship Grace Dollar hit the dolphin.

Charles W. Nelson Company, lumber—Master of the steamship Lakme: "I recall on two different occasions that I had to back the vessel full speed to keep from running the bridge down, and the ship will always get out of her position then and make her run ashore, because the backing motion will slew the stern to port, then the tide shoves her over more and the bow will ground on the bank on the starboard side."

BRIDGE DAMAGED.

Fred Linderman, lumber, and shipping—The steamer Westport loaded with about 7,000,000 feet of lumber, was bound for the Sunset Lumber Company's wharf. The Harrison street bridge tender struck the bridge, and the bridge was damaged. The bridge tender released the bolts and the bridge swung open with the help of the momentum of the steamer, thereby preventing any serious damage to the steamer, the bridge, however, sustaining considerable damage.

FIGURES ARE OFFERED.

Lawrence Warehouse Company—We leased for a number of years the Alice street dock and warehouse and lost several thousand dollars. We found owners and operators of ships would not take the charges of passing through the bridges, excepting in cases of great emergency.

Matson Navigation Company—States that it would consider the present drawbridge a serious hindrance to safe navigation for vessels of the size owned by that company if they were to dock at Oakland.

Chambers Robinson also presented the following figures on the operation of the two drawbridges over the inner harbor:

In the year 1915 the total openings were 15,528, an average of 1322 a month, and of this number 14,000 time consumed in opening and closing the bridges was five minutes.

Robinson then quoted figures on the operation of the Lake street bridge in Chicago, the Chicago bridge in that city. These showed that the average openings were twenty a day. That bridge is opened in thirty seconds and closed in the same time. It requires three minutes to open it, pass a steamship and close it.

ALAMEDA'S PLAIN HEARD.

Communications were filed from the Alameda Chamber of Commerce, and of the bridge, against Morgan, an engineer, also calling attention to their inconvenience and quoting figures and from several other persons, firms and organizations, also calling attention to the bridge.

ROBINSON OFFERS CASE.

Chambers Robinson of the harbor committee presented the case for the Chamber. He said:

Much of the evidence has been filed. It is a conservative statement that the people of the east bay region are a unit in believing these conditions of the estuary should be improved. This applies not only to the marine people, but to all the people.

We believe this hearing is preliminary, so will show the matter broadly. We will seek to show by specific instances that these bridges are a menace to traffic on the estuary. We will show the various business interests, the estuary, possible remedies, and some engineering data as to the remedying of the situation.

Robinson then briefly described the plan for the estuary and their activities. He told of the Union Iron Works contracts, and its expansion, and showed how the bridges hamper the plant, supplementing that firm's own report.

HEADS REPORTS.

Reports of the Down Town Property Owners' Association and of the Chamber of Commerce, and a clipping from The TRIBUNE, telling of actual work in Oakland's shipyards and showing conditions on the estuary, were read by Robinson into the official record. He continued:

I think that from these figures and statements there are several points involved: One, the span of the bridge; another, whether a swing bridge should be permitted at all; and, third, is it necessary that the channel should allow the passage of the largest vessels, and permit the passage of two considerable sized vessels together.

ESTUARY THROTTLED.

The degree of increase of business in the inner harbor is rapid, and as present the estuary is like a strong man with a grip on his windpipe. The estuary is throttled by present conditions.

That is why we urge the largest opening at this point possible. It should be something between 300 and 550 feet. Any swing bridge would merely minimize the present evil. That is self-evident.

If there is more than one bridge they should be immediately adjacent and operated as a unit. This is practical.

NEED RELIEF NOW.

As to the time of completion, the development of the inner harbor is very rapid. Three years is a long time to look forward to without relief. We feel that not more than two years should be allowed for the consummation of those changes.

"Can you give any specific objection to a single swing bridge?" asked Colonel Rees.

"Yes," said Robinson. "It limits the width of clear channel to one-half of 328 feet, and that is too small for the type of vessel to be built on the estuary, which, if a contract for a battleship were awarded to the coast, would probably be the scene of the work."

Robinson also called attention to the width of a large vessel with its tugs alongside.

Joseph R. Knowland was called on to tell of the public frame of mind. He said:

I have kept somewhat in touch with harbor developments in the past twelve years, and it is a fact that there has been more development in the past six months than in sixteen years before.

YARDS TO BE TAXED.

I know that the naval program as laid out will include a great building yard in the United States, and there is very little doubt of contracts coming to coast yards. It is practically assured that one will come to San Francisco bay, and I understand that in this case it will come to the east side.

romel's length, exist, operated separately.

An enormous structure would be slow-acting, and defeat your own object, said Barlow.

He suggested two bridges of 28 feet height.

Among the witnesses submitting evidence were the following:

E. K. Wood Lumber Company, Frederick and King streets; Mervy-Bivell Company, foot of Eleventh avenue; Atlas Imperial Engine Company, foot of Ninth avenue; Hoff Abestos Company, foot of Twenty-second avenue; California Wire Cloth Company, foot of Twenty-second avenue; Standard Gas Engine Company, Denison and King streets; Final Dome Refining Company, Livingston and Nineteenth avenue; Rhoads and Jamison & Co., foot of Park street, Alameda; George H. NATIONAL POLITICAL NEWS

FIRST STATE VOTE OMEN FOR HUGHES

MAINE BACK IN FOLD AS REPUBLICAN

By Biggest Vote in the History of State for Thirty-six Years: Fear That Democrats Had Chance Are Fully Dispelled

Whether Result Can Be Taken As "Pointing the Way" Subject of Debate Because G. O. P. Majority Less Than Before

By PERRY ARNOLD.

AUGUSTA, Me., Sept. 12.—Return of Progressives to the Republican fold will make the G. O. P. majority in Maine's elections yesterday over 12,000, practically complete returns today showed.

The reunited party made a clean sweep of it in the Pine Tree State—gubernatorial, senatorial and congressional. It increased Republican strength in the State Legislature.

Two years ago, the gubernatorial candidate polled a trifling over 18,000 votes and the Democrats won by about 3,000. The difference is about 15,000 votes. There were only a few scattered precincts to be heard from at noon today and the Republicans claimed 15,000, would be practically the total of their majority.

In other words, they claimed that practically 100 per cent of the Bull Moose had returned to the old party. The Republican victory was made impressive in the fact that their fight and the Democratic defense was waged exclusively on national issues—it was really Wilsonism vs. Hughesism.

Headquarters for both parties here tabulated figures showing that the majority attained by the Republican gubernatorial nominee, Carl D. Miller, was 13,400 ahead of Governor Curtis.

Colonel Fred Hale, who opposed probably the strongest Democratic candidate in the State—Senator Chas. F. Johnson—and the man whom Democracy above all others sought to re-elect, since he typified the Wilson policies, had a majority of 9,500 votes according to virtually complete figures.

For the short term as United States Senator, Bert M. Fernald, Republican, won from Kenneth C. W. Sils with 12,000 to spare. The four Republican Congressional nominees were elected with votes to spare, except in the 2d district, where Daniel M. McGillicuddy, Democrat, whose re-election has been practically conceded by the Republicans, was turned out by a bare 502 votes.

OMEN FOR HUGHES. "The result leaves no doubt in my mind as to the election of Hughes in November," Frank J. Ham, Republican State campaign manager, declared today. "Our majority will reach more than 15,000 by the time the border vote now represented in the missing precincts is heard from."

The Republican committee exhibited a message from Governor McCall of Massachusetts, declaring: "The result of the Maine election is an unmistakable indication of a strong trend which I believe is nation-wide, toward the Republican Presidential candidate."

Attorney-General Pattangall, campaign manager Democratic State Committee, said: "The vote does not represent the majority the Republicans have had in this State in past Presidential years. A similar Republican majority in 1912 was followed, it may be remembered, by a sweeping of the country by Cleveland.

Then you do not think Maine will point the way this year? he was asked.

Maine is normally Republican—and look what happened in 1912, the Democratic leader rejoined.

HARD WORK LOST.

While belittling Maine's infallibility in forecasting the election two months hence, Democratic leaders were plainly disappointed at their poor showing at the polls. Democracy poured its strongest campaigners into the Pine Tree State. They started a fire under Hughes' labor record; they preached eloquently how Wilson "kept the country out of war," and they stood pat on his Mexican policy. Five cabinet members did missionary work.

The fact that the State issues were subordinated for the Republican view in the fight made Republican politicians here believe the Republican victory really does mean something nationally in the way of a trend back to the party which was ousted from power four years ago. They pointed to the fact that Ralph D. Cole, chairman of the Republican National Committee's speakers' bureau, concentrated former Bull Moose speakers into Maine—Roosevelt, Medill McCormick and others of that type—and made a particular bid to welcome "the party that was" back into the G. O. P.

Maine voters, they said, used their heads because while the general State and national tickets were overwhelmingly Republican, the Down Easterners elected Democratic sheriffs, county attorneys and other county officers in all but two counties. They elected these officers at home on local issues, and they chose others who were to represent them at the State capital and in Congress on the issues of national importance.

HUGHES IS PLEASED.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 12.—"I don't see how we can lose. It is very gratifying was the comment of Republican Candidate Hughes on returns from the Maine election received here before he left for Pittsburgh last night."

PARTY HEADS COMMENT.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Republican and Democratic party leaders pressed today to find encouragement in the results and the election in Maine. Comments of those high in the ranks of both parties follow:

Chairman Willcox—The result in Maine means the election of Hughes in November. It is very significant. The result in Maine is a sign of the way the Progressive movement is thinking throughout the republic. The results are ominous. I believe I understand these are first impressions. I hope the second view may be more favorable to the Democracy.

Secretary Reynolds of the Republican national committee declared: "The result in Maine shows an absolutely reunited party. The state has repudiated United States Senator Charles F. Johnson, a member of the finance committee of the Senate which framed the present Democratic tariff bill."

HOPEFUL OF INDIANA.

A sweeping Democratic victory in Indiana is predicted by United States Senator Thomas Taggart.

"President Wilson and the Democratic ticket will carry Indiana by 50,000," the Senator told Chairman McCormick of the Democratic national committee.

VIEWS DIFFER.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Main election results are given of diverse interpretation by Republican and Democratic leaders. Chairman Willcox of the Republican national committee said:

"This means a reunited party, that the Progressives have returned to the party and that the election of Mr. Hughes in November is assured."

Democratic Chairman McCormick said:

"The result of the election in Maine

WILSON SWELLS SPEECH PROGRAM

Adds to Eastern Itinerary, But Still Shies at the West.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Sept. 12.—President Wilson has decided to make a number of pre-election speeches, in addition to those already scheduled for September 20 at St. Louis and September 24 at Baltimore.

The President reached this decision after a talk with Homer Cummings, vice-chairman of the Democratic National Committee, on the train en route here yesterday. Cummings, who is charged with the duty of rounding up campaign orators, told the President he should accept a number of invitations extended him by organizations in different parts of the country.

Where the additional speeches will be made will be left to the judgment of the national committee, but the President has asked that they be confined so far as possible to the East. His reason for this is that if he goes on an extended trip to the West he will be compelled to deliver numerous platform speeches—all of a political nature—and he wished to avoid this, believing that the President of the United States should not campaign for re-election.

Cummings urged the President to make one speech in Connecticut and believe he may acquiesce. The President made it clear, however, that he will deliver no address before partisan organizations or at political gatherings of any kind. He will accept only invitations extended him by organizations non-political in character.

Next Monday, Chairman Van McCormick and Cummings plan to confer with President Wilson at Shadow Lawn relative to this feature of the campaign. The meeting was to have been held yesterday, but the illness of the President's sister necessitating his trip here resulted in a postponement.

President Wilson retired early aboard the yacht Mayflower last night and was not informed of the Maine results until this morning. He made no comment.

Short Challenges

Johnson on Faith

FRESNO, Sept. 12.—Frank H. Short, in an open letter, pledged himself to support Governor Johnson for Senator if Johnson will declare himself a Republican and announce his unqualified intent to support Republican policies. The letter has brought a scathing editorial from the Republican practically admitting that the Republican candidate for the Senatorship will not do this, and arraigning Short for falling in fealty to him.

Republican Women

to Hear Speakers

Another meeting of the Thirty-six District Women's Republican Club of Alameda county was planned for next Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Fairlawn Hotel, 2400 Fruitvale avenue. Addresses will be given by Arthur H. John W. Stearns and Mrs. Eleanor Carlisle at one time school director in the Berkeley schools. Mrs. E. C. Robinson will preside.

Direct Primary

Tried in Vermont

BURLINGTON, Vt., Sept. 12.—The direct primary was given its first test in Vermont today with popular interest centered in the triangular fight for the Republican nomination for United States Senator. The candidates are Senator Carroll S. Page, Governor Charles W. Gates and former Governor Allen W. Fletcher.

Sonoma Estate Is

Cause for Contest

Differences between Charles W. Churchill, a wealthy viticulturist of Sonoma county and his sister, Catherine Churchill over the guardianship of their mother and her $250,000 estate are before Superior Judge H. C. Gesford for adjustment, the matter being set for hearing tomorrow. The daughter complains that her brother has manipulated the management of the vineyard in Sonoma county to his own advantage. Churchill will tell his story to the court at the hearing.

indicates a sweeping Democratic victory in November.

Democratic and Republican papers of New York agreed today that the result of the Maine election indicates the Progressive vote in that state has swung back to the Republicans. They disagree only on the significance of the election from a national standpoint.

World (Democrat) says: "Neither Democrats nor Republicans have much to brag about in the results of the Maine election. It was inevitable that Maine should go Republican. The Republican victory is anything but decisive. If Maine is a barometer of the national election the national election is still on the knees of the gods."

Tribune (Republican): "The early returns from Maine indicate a decisive Republican victory. Any plurality on the state ticket exceeding 10,000 must be considered as reviving the old tradition of Republican supremacy in Maine."

Sun (Republican): "The returns indicate that the Republicans and former Progressives came together in a wave of the closest of the Democratic hopes of a September victory. Such analysis of the vote as could be made last night shows the Republican party in Maine was reunited yesterday smoothly and solidly. The Democrats have been asking what the Republicans were going to do. The answer has come."

Times (Democrat): "It is plain that Roosevelt carried most of the Progressives with him into the Republican camp. It appears probable, too, that more of the new voters supported the Republican than the Democratic candidates. The vote in Maine does not decide Presidential elections, and, save in landslide years, is no great indication of their decision. Such comfort as this election does give, however, is Republican comfort. It remains to be seen whether in other states the Progressives will return as generally as they did in Maine, or whether, as in 1876, 1880, 1884 and 1908, Maine has merely shown that she was out of step with the nation."

Primaries Held In Three States Many Contests Among Republicans

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—The state primary campaign which closed today was one of the hardest fought in the history of Illinois. Chief interest centers in the three-cornered fight between Frank O. Lowden, Frank L. Smith and Senator Morton D. Hull for the Republican nomination for governor. Lowden is supported by the regular organization. Smith is running independent and Hull is supported by the Anti-Saloon League and other factions.

Former United States Senator William Lorimer is seeking the nomination for Congress in the Sixth district.

On the Democratic side the chief interest is in the fight between Governor Edward F. Dunne and William B. Brinton for the gubernatorial nomination.

SEATTLE, Sept. 12.—Eight Republicans are candidates for Governor in the state primary today. Governor Ernest Lister, Democrat, will be re-nominated. There are ten Republican candidates for Congress in the first district and one Democrat. Owing to the operation of the second-choice law in the contest for more important offices on the Republican side, the result of the primary will not be known for many hours after the balloting is ended.

If Too Fat Get

More Fresh Air

BE MODERATE IN YOUR DIET AND

REDUCE YOUR WEIGHT. TAKE

OIL OF KOREIN.

Lack of fresh air, it is said, weakens the system, brings about indigestion, the liver becomes sluggish, fat accumulates and the action of many of the vital organs is hindered thereby. The heart action becomes weak, work is an effort and the beauty of the figure is destroyed.

Fat put on by indoor life is unhealthy and if nature is not assisted in throwing it off, a serious case of obesity may result.

When you feel that you are getting too stout, take the matter in hand at once. Don't wait until your figure has become a joke and your health ruined through carrying around a burden of unwholesome and unhealthy fat.

Spend as much time as you possibly can in the open air; breathe the day, and get from Drug Dept. at Kahn's, Broadway, San Pablo and Sixteenth street, or any druggist a box of Oil of Korein capsules; take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Watch yourself every few days and keep up the treatment until you are down to normal. Oil of Korein is absolutely harmless, it is meant to take help the digestion and even a few days' treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight.—Advertisement.

Tropic Cattle Plague Menaces Philippines

MANILA, P. I., Aug. 12.—Rinderpest, a cattle scourge common in the tropics, has assumed the proportions of a serious epidemic in the Philippines, causing the deaths of hundreds of work animals—carabao and cattle—weekly. Governor General Harrison has called upon every department of the insular government to co-operate in checking the disease, which is a difficult matter because there are practically no fences in the Philippine country. It has been decided to establish a laboratory for the manufacture of anti-rinderpest serum, increase the force of veterinarians and build more immunization stations. The constabulary troops will be concentrated in one province at a time and thus seek to control the epidemic. In 1887 the worst of the epidemic occurred and it was estimated that 90 per cent of the animals on the islands died. In 1901 the disease killed 35 per cent of the animals. This year the disease thus far has claimed only about six-tenths of one per cent.

Bald-headed Barbers Must Explain Why

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 12.—Why should a bald-headed barber attempt to induce a bald-headed customer to use a sure cure for baldness? This is one of the questions that will come before the state convention of barbers which started here today. All the bald-headed barbers in Illinois, including those with toupees and switches, will be called upon to answer. Some of the better-known bald-headed customers also will be asked in to answer.

HUGHES IS ENDORSED BY COMMITTEE

Republican County Organization Pledges Self to Nominees of Party in Nation and State at Initial Meeting of Body

Elmer E. Nichols of Berkeley Is New Chairman and He Will Name Sub-committee for Work of Next Two Years in County

Resolutions endorsing Hughes for President, Fairbanks for Vice-President, Hiram W. Johnson for United States Senator from California and Arthur Elston for Congressman were adopted by the Republican County Central Committee which organized at noon today at the courthouse.

Elmer E. Nichols of Berkeley, law partner of Congressman J. Arthur Elston, was nominated and unanimously chosen chairman of the committee. The nomination was made by former State Senator E. K. Strobridge, who was chosen vice-chairman. Oscar T. Barber placed him in nomination. George W. Nickerson was nominated secretary, by Charles Wade Snook and unanimously elected. W. E. Dean was chosen treasurer. Clinton G. Dodge, chairman of the retiring committee, called the meeting to order after which J. C. Holland, deputy clerk of the Board of Supervisors, read the certificates of election of the committee members.

W. A. Gompertz of Berkeley offered the resolution supporting Chas. Evans Hughes, Charles W. Fairbanks, Hiram W. Johnson and J. Arthur Elston for the high offices of the party. Clinton G. Dodge immediately addressed the body on the resolution, asking a postponement until after the state convention.

"It is a matter of self-respect with me to a large extent," he said. "The attitude of the candidate for United States Senator has not been just right toward us. We want to know what his stand is and how others feel about him."

Arthur Arlett took the floor at the conclusion of the appeal from the speaker and protested against any delay.

"Let there be no equivocation," he said. "There is no necessity of a delay in the endorsement of the candidate for United States Senator."

Rod W. Church also interceded in the interests of a postponement of endorsement, and Oscar T. Barber spoke in favor of immediate action.

When the motion was put the ayes carried it with a few negative votes.

A motion was then adopted empowering the chairman to appoint executives, finance and campaign committees, followed by adjournment to the call of the chair.

Funeral of Pioneer Mine Superintendent
Funeral services will be held on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock for the late John Nelson, a pioneer of California, who died Monday afternoon at the home of his granddaughter, Mrs. Cordelia Lar Rieu, 986 Eighth street. He was a native of Scotland and 85 years of age.

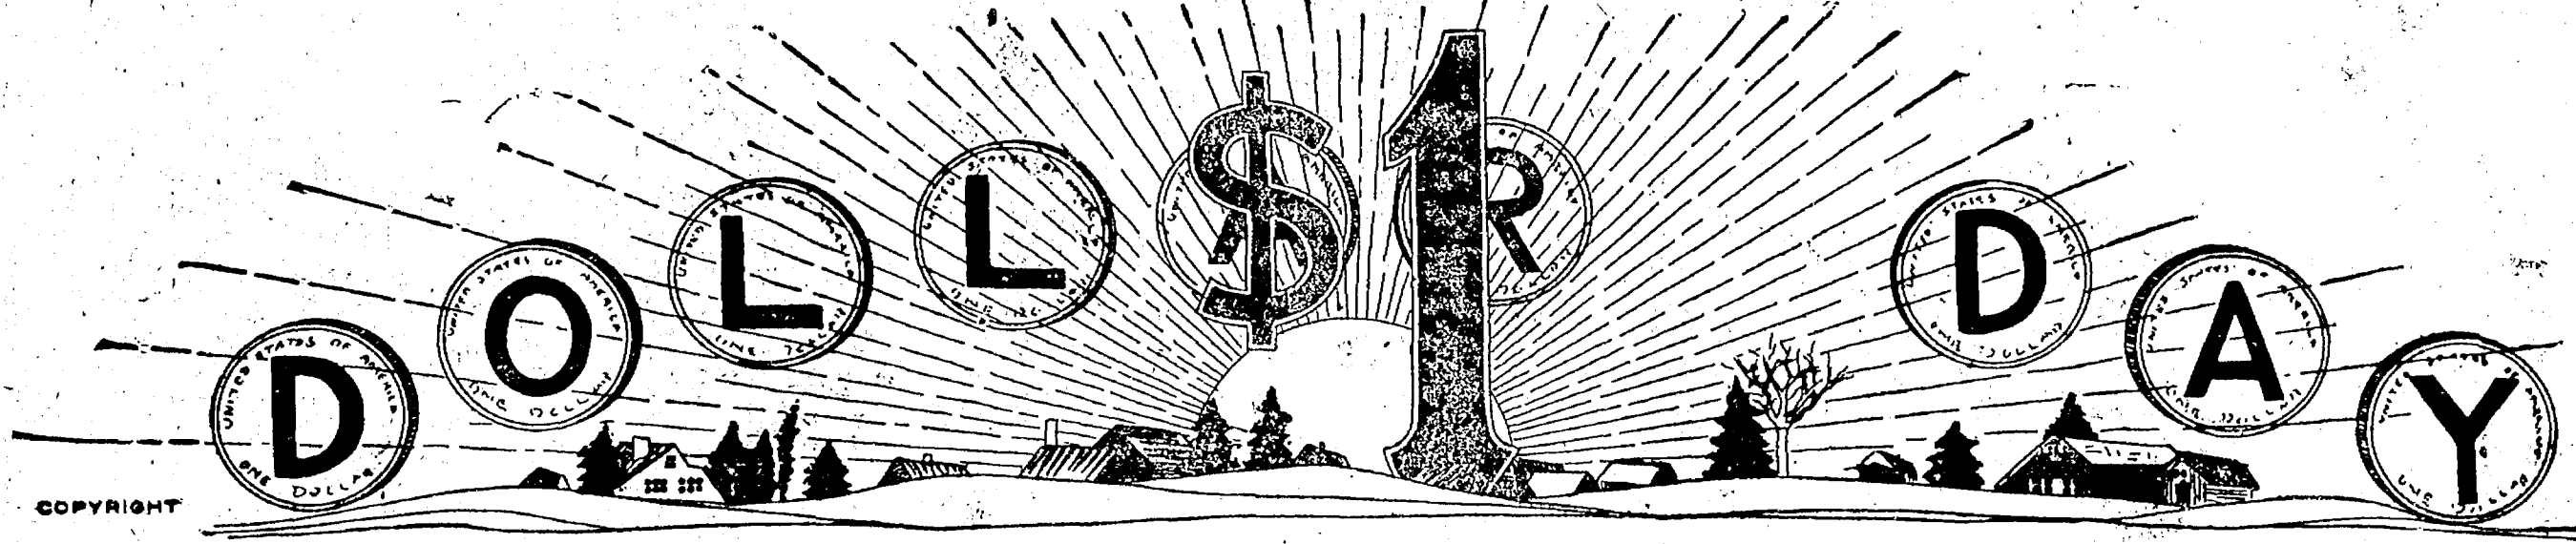

Nelson came to California across the plains from Wisconsin in 1850 and became a miner in the Placerville country. Later he went to Virginia City and became superintendent of one of the famous Comstock silver mines. He was a senator in the first legislature of Nevada. After leaving that State he came back to California and operated a lumber mill near Downieville. He was a friend of Chief Truckee, after whom the Truckee river was named, and conducted the funeral services of the aged Indian when he passed away.

JAIL YARD MADE 'SQUARED CIRCLE'

"Pesty" Ryan "Swings On Deputy After Two-Year Sentence Imposed.

"Swinging on a guy" has been a habit for so long with "Pesty" Ryan, new-boy featherweight pugilist, that he could not resist a final combat after Superior Judge Ogden had sentenced him to two years in the county jail, this morning for violation of his probation.

As Deputy Sheriff Frank Higuera was opening the door leading from the rear of the courthouse to the jail yard, Ryan, who was handcuffed to his waist, struck him a vicious blow, shattering his eyeglasses and blackening his eye. Then he lay down on the floor and tearfully groined against the sound "spanking" which was administered.

He made no attempt to escape and was locked in his cell where he will probably remain until the expiration of his sentence, as his record here is not considered favorable to an early parole.

Ryan, whose real name is Edward Coutermanche, was first involved with the authorities for neglecting to provide for his wife. He was placed on probation and failed to report. Then he fled east and sought in Detroit under an assumed name, later returning to Los Angeles and San Diego where he also engaged in fistio bouts.

He won the featherweight championship in the south and the evening of his entry under the name of "Pesty" Ryan, attracted the attention of Assistant Probation Officer, who brought him to Oakland and recommended to the court that his probation be terminated.

Judge Ogden said that he was reluctant to send the defendant to prison and committed him to the county jail for the maximum sentence, further ordering that he should work on the county chain gang or such other work as is arranged for by the supervisors for failure to provide his support.

As Ryan left the courtroom with Deputy Higuera he hurled an oath half-aloud at the court. The deputy admonished him, telling him that he was fortunate at not going to San Quentin. He immediately became surly and shortly after struck the officer.

SENT TO PRISON.
Milton H. Rachler, alias Roller, an 18-year-old youth, who had been in the county jail and who has admitted passing many fictitious checks in Oakland, Denver, Salt Lake and Los Angeles, was sentenced by Superior Judge Ogden to serve five years in San Quentin.

Rachler is a son of a wealthy New York manufacturer of brass beds, he told the court. He went into the criminal business several years ago and has been sentenced by Superior Judge Ogden to serve five years in San Quentin.

There are more than 700 horses in the Barnum and Bailey Circus Show on Earth, and this list embraces every known breed of the equine species. To keep this list of aristocratic horseflesh in the pink of condition is no small concern of the proprietors. Of course, in the hurry and rush of circus life, making parades, running in the different rings, racing on the hippodrome track and quickly loading the railroad cars, occasional mishaps are unavoidable. That more accidents do not occur is due to perfect discipline and intelligent supervision.

Besides, the veterinary and his corps of aids, more than 250 grooms, drivers and assistants are necessary for the proper care of this great string of horses.

A skilled veterinary surgeon and four assistants supervise the care of the horses of the Barnum and Bailey animals. They know the name of each horse in the great collection, and know also the disposition, temperament and vitality of each. For the more valuable specimens, including the best of Arabian, Kentucky and English runners and ring horses, the veterinary prescribes the nature and extent of food for each. He knows each horse's capacity for work, as well as the food for each, and when they are sick he knows the special treatment required for the best constitutional results.

Among the equine features of the Barnum and Bailey's performances to be given Friday afternoon and night are the Hanneford Troupe in a jockey and comedy riding act, Salome, the acrobatic equestrienne, and a comedy mule and pony circus.

Former Official to Face Assault Trial
John R. Morris, a salesman of 545 Turk street, San Francisco, and former customs house inspector across the bay, must stand trial on a charge of having assaulted Floyd Smith, a deputy sheriff, with intent to commit murder. A warrant bearing this charge was issued against him by the police today, and he will be arraigned in the police court tomorrow morning.

TENT IS RIPPED.
S. H. Rhodes, a minister of the Church of the Nazarene, which is holding a series of services in a tent at Forty-fifth street and Telegraph avenue, told the police today that some one had taken a woman's cloak last night. The cloak had been left in a closet at the rear of the tent. It is valued at $20.

'CRUELTY DIARY' IN DIVORCE SUIT

Dentist's Wife, in Cross-Complaint, Files Long List of Woes.

For the last eighteen months Margaret R. French has kept a "cruelty" diary of her husband's actions in connection with their marital relations, which caused him to file suit for divorce some time ago. In a cross-complaint she filed today against Howard W. French, a local dentist, she recites in chronological form the things he did to her and the things she said, specifying line by line over three closely typed pages of legal cap, her grounds for seeking a divorce in her own behalf.

Commencing with March 16, 1914, she says her husband called her a "mutter," "mutton-head," "insignificant idiot," "crook," "nut-head," "pie-face" and much more besides, his telling her "not to look cockeyed at him" and "that he would rather talk to a stick than to you."

In addition Mrs. French alleges that she was on different occasions "thanked" and "mailed" about their apartments at different times of the night until she was sore and lame. Then, to cap the climax, she says she was in a newspaper advertisement that he would be responsible for any bills contracted by her subsequent to July 10. The couple were married in Chicago in July, 1913, and separated July 11, 1916, according to the complaint. Mrs. French asks for $100 a month alimony.

For her part, Mrs. French denies the charges her husband made in his divorce suit, declaring that she never threatened to kill him, that she never smoked cigarettes, used intoxicants or called him names.

COAL PURCHASES ARE CRITICIZED

Illegal, Says Auditor; Industrial Zone Changes Are Protested.

City Auditor T. H. Clay told the city council today that it was violating the city charter in purchasing coal in the open market, in that bill for $560,617 had been run up for fuel furnished the fire department without the formality of a bid having been accepted. The matter was referred to the city attorney for a recommendation.

The council advertised for bids for the supply of coal a month ago, but took no action in the matter. The bids were not even rejected. None was accepted, and the city purchased its coal in the open market. Now Clay reports that this is illegal, and that something must be done about it. He will probably be readvantaged.

Deputy City Attorney W. H. O'Brien told the council today that residents of the vicinity of the proposed new site of the Moran Packing company at Seventy-third avenue and the Southern Pacific railroad tracks desired to protest a change in the industrial zone ordinance. The ordinance was introduced today and given its first reading. It was then continued to Thursday for a second reading, when residents will have an opportunity to make their objections.

The Moran company has purchased ten acres at this location, and is preparing to spend $30,000 in the erection of a big plant. A portion of the land purchased is not included in the existing industrial zone, and it is for this reason that the zone change is proposed.

Commissioner H. Edwards introduced another amendment to the ordinance, extending the existing central business district from Fortieth street to Fifty-fifth, show that Mooney told a friend that he had sent men down there to blow up those towers.

Soon after that Billings left Fifth and Market street with a suitcase containing forty-six sticks of dynamite and a bomb and secreted it at Tanforan, and that suitcase was found and belonged to Billings, and that it had been so identified, and we will show it to you, gentlemen.

We hope to show that on July 19 Billings was at Fourth and Market streets in conversation about dynamiting with George Seid, secretary of the I. W. W., and that he told Seid that Philkerton detectives were watching him and he sent him to Mooney with a message that he wanted to meet Mooney at the Blast office, and that meeting later took place.

That the next Thursday night there was an anti-preparedness meeting at Dreamland Rink and that Billings was there. On Friday we will show that Billings admitted that he took a parcel from his home to Nineteenth and Guerrero streets; that it contained a camera; that he expected to meet Mooney there and later went down to Mooney's office; that when Mr. and Mrs. Mooney were arrested they denied Billings ever loaned them a camera.

TELLS OF TEN WITNESSES.

Finally, gentlemen of the jury, we will show you that at 1 p. m. July 22 the defendant appeared at 721 Market street with a suitcase containing the bomb; that he asked permission to go on the roof, a very inaccessible place; that he went there where there were numerous persons; that he was nervous and excited and that medical aid had to be given him. Ten witnesses saw him there. When he left we will show that he went directly to Stewart and

Bad Word Wins Her a Divorce

Laugenour Too Unkind, Court Holds

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—After several attempts to gain her freedom, one of which was balked by Judge Graham's attempt at reconciliation, Mrs. Irma R. Laugenour was granted a divorce today from William Laugenour, hardware lumber merchant. An exclamation of distaste spoken in a moment of perturbation and testified to by two witnesses earned Mrs. Laugenour her decrees on the ground of desertion.

The evidence disclosed that in 1913 Laugenour left the family home at 2121 California street and told his better half that he was going to stay at the Hotel Bellevue until she got over her "cursed meanness."

Attorney Theodore Roche announced that a settlement of $100 monthly alimony had been made out of court. The Laugenours were wedded in Glenn county in 1895 and have two children, William, 13, and Clair, 9. Judge Graham, who signed the divorce today, denied the couple a divorce on cruelty charges last year.

Market street; that he was seen by a number of witnesses; that he was seen to place the machine there; that he went from there to Sixth and Market street; that he took a jitney and went to the ferry and then back to his house. We will show that ball bearings missed from the garage were found in Billings' possessions when arrested and that bullets and bearings similar to those in his possession were actually used in the bomb.

That when he was first arrested Billings claimed he saw the parade from Sixth and Market street and remained there all the time and never went below Market street and met no one that he knew save the driver of the automobile, and that nevertheless he told Chief of Police White that he had gone to Grant avenue and Post and worked back to Taylor and Market streets, and we expect you gentlemen of the jury to render a verdict in this case of murder in the first degree.

LIEUTENANT IS WITNESS.

Lieutenant of Police Stephen V. Bunker, who was on duty at Stewart and Market street when the explosion occurred, made the first investigation of the internal machine, described the event and the injury of so many persons. He was followed by Autopsy Surgeon David Stafford, who gave the technical details of the injuries to the victims who succumbed and identified bits of the bomb taken from their wounds.

The acceptance as the eleventh juror of William T. Balling came after nearly all of the peremptory challenges of the defense had been exhausted and after it appeared as though McNutt was going to avail himself of his privilege of using all of them. He, however, was satisfied with Balling that he took him without question. Chief of Police White was in personal attendance throughout the day.

The jurymen chosen are: William F. Humbert, retired decorator, 322 Haight street.

Peter A. Finnegan, retired mining broker, 2439 Sacramento street.

John P. Meinhart, retired lumber clerk, 922 Valencia street.

F. W. Meinhardt, retired harness maker, 1539 Page street. He was a member of the jury that acquitted Billings in 1913 of a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Hugh Fraser, retired blacksmith, 624 Golden Gate avenue.

William Baker, retired saloon-keeper, 798 Capp street.

Charles Dohler, retired capitalist, 600 Geary street.

Isaac Oberdenner, automobile broker, 1574 Grove street.

Edward F. Franks, realty operator, 98 Fillmore street.

Paula Koenig, grocer, 110 San Jose avenue.

Fred Raschen, retired grocer, 1233 Ellis street.

William T. Balling.

GERMANS ADMIT LOSS OF GINCHY

Allies Claim to Have Repulsed the Attacks on Western Front.

BERLIN, Sept. 12.—The village of Ginchy was lost to the British yesterday morning, it was officially admitted this afternoon.

FIRE STARTED. LONDON, Sept. 12.—The following official statement was given out here today:

"Yesterday evening, our heavy artillery caused two large conflagrations in the enemy's ammunition depot at Grand Court. There was some hostile artillery activity during the night against our lines between Delville Wood and Moquet Farm. Otherwise, there were no developments."

CLAIM SUCCESSES.

PARIS, via London, Sept. 12.—"South of the Somme an enemy attack against one of our trenches east of Belloy-en-Santerre was repulsed easily by means of grenades." They are the official announcement from the war office today. "A minor operation enabled us to occupy a German trench south of Bicoy cemetery. Everywhere else there was the usual cannonading during the night."

CROWN PRINCE LEADS.

BERLIN, via London, Sept. 11.—Crown Prince Ruprecht of Bavaria has now assumed the command of the German armies on the Somme front. He is entrusted with the general direction of operations against the Anglo-French offensive. All troops assigned to this task are placed under his control, making possible the distribution of reserves and the employment of all the means of war to the best advantage under a unified plan.

The announcement in the official army headquarters report of today reveals a general re-arrangement of commands, brought about by the appointment of Field Marshal von Hindenburg as chief of staff. The new front divides the western front into three sectors and assigns to these three princely commanders, who, regardless of reasons of policy which dictated their appointments to command of armies at the beginning of the war, have been the northern sector, before the war had risen to the rank of general and corps commander. He inflicted the first great defeat on the French in the dash through Belgium. Crown Prince Ruprecht, in command of the central sector, was the victor in the battle in Lorraine, which crushed and repulsed the French invasion in German in 1914. The German crown prince has the overcommand in the Verdun sector.

When Street Reforms It Must Be Renamed

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—Clark street, having reformed since the days when it was the haunt of confidence men and gamblers, wants its name changed, following the example of the Bowery in New York, and enough signatures were obtained to a petition today to insure consideration of Broadway as the new name. Business men on the street say out of town customers are frightened away by stories told of Clark street in the preceding decade, and that though conditions are changed since crooks made it their headquarters, the name is a handicap.

BALLOTS FOR GUARD.

BOSTON, Sept. 12.—The Massachusetts Legislature met in special session today to consider a measure to permit Massachusetts National Guardsmen on the border to vote in the November election and to provide aid for dependents of the guardsmen.

STAVIAN ECHO.

Shaw's "Philanderer" offered gay opportunities for student comedians, even better than "Arms and the Man," which was metamorphosed into the "Chocolate Soldier." Harris did not borrow the theme, but in Jerry Summerfield we have an Americanized and music-faralized Philanderer.

Ruggles handles the roll with vim in his successful courtship of every woman he meets, with drollery when his many "fairies" begin to complicate the situation beyond his power of evasion.

There are two good voices in the company—Leola Lucy and Carl McCullough. That they are worth while was evidenced by the demands for more whenever they sang.

The music is catchy, good of the kind that wins immediate favor, and is sung and whistled for a month or so to distraction. It is good of the kind that wins one's heart as each new musical offering takes the count, "where are the songs of yesterday?"

She Had.

Lady (engagingly)—Have you had any experience with children?

TASTY FROTH IS 'CANARY COTTAGE'

Smacks of Spice and Merri-ment, and Once at Least, of Shaw.

By HARRY L. SULLY.

Take "Adele" and "The Candy Shop." Take, more particularly, "So Long, Letty." Take any three or four recent musical comedies that were enough better than the others to merit a mention.

Mix frantically in the brain of a clever producer and draw off the surface froth, being attentive to extract the minimum of plot, and the maximum of dash.

Dress what you have in hand more strikingly than its predecessors, being at pains to have the dressing include a group of girls fair enough not to require any extensive decorations fore or aft.

Add scenery, with a tendency toward the futuristic, but at present content to tread manfully along the path of post impressionism.

Add music, of the kind you know. But give a little novelty, this time by including in an excellent orchestra instruments no less contrasty than a harp and a banjo for string mates, with a xylophone near by.

"Canary Cottage," which last night rained its way into the Madison Square theater to win applause from the most jaded.

This may cause one to say: "What? No more than rehearsal?"

Considerable more, gentle prospective ticket buyers—only you!—better hurry up if you would get down toward the front. It is, indeed, the same formula. But the proportions have been varied, and some of the colors have been supplied from a more picturesque palette.

SPICE IS THERE.

The press agents had led us all to believe that this show was a little over-spiced with naughtiness. It may well be admitted without hesitation that the naughtiness is there, some of it covered by what is glossed over, some of it, well, understated.

There was no peculiarly bald-headed row, and there was nothing about the audience that suggested that it was drawn from a depraved section of the community. From with gray hair were there a plenty; but they were the kind of women who know how to be most attractive in this, their girlhood of middle age. Also there were family parties. And there were a note that they were shocked at jokes that were, as some would not doubt admit, sometimes "suggestive."

Perhaps this is laying too much emphasis upon a side of the musical farce known as "Canary Cottage." It is a bright and sparkling production, presented by comedians and singers who have the fire of youth to put their mercurial and a lively step.

Theater-goers will no doubt compare and contrast with "So Long, Letty," "Canary Cottage" has less plot, less dash, and sustained dialogue with wit in it, inclines further from comedy toward farce, even toward vaudeville. But it is good entertainment from first to last, and what can man want better?

"FRICKIE" LIVES UP TO NAME. Frickie, a clowning clown with the old humor about it to take the edge off the occasional slapstick effect. She stages a kitchen stove "Wilhelm Tell" overture that had people doubled up in the seats.

The inevitable tip scene was well done. Herbert Cortell, her "best of a husband," wandered through the action in a gentle state of inebriety that delighted without disgusting. He is a most lovable victim of the Demon Rum, and his two vaudeville and acrobatic demons, Nip and Tuck, were well conceived, and not unduly obtrusive.

Dorothy Webb is as dainty as her daintiest gowns, and she has several of this variety.

It would be proper to mention Charles Ruggles next, but a diversion is suggested here. Ruggles plays the part of Jerry Summerfield, and Summerfield is a modern musical comedy adaptation of a character within the circle of a clever man than the creator of "Canary Cottage."

There were two or three university professors in the audience last night and they no doubt remembered that some years ago Elmer Harris was not a successful writer of musical farces, he was giving some rather clever lectures. Bernard Shaw and Ibsen and Maeterlinck in the college city. Harris knew his Shaw well.

SHOPPERS READY FOR DOLLAR DAY

Tomorrow Every Merchant Is to Offer Double or Better for Cash.

Tomorrow's DOLLAR DAY!

Tomorrow every store in Oakland will offer more than value—more for the buyer's dollar than the buyer can buy at any other time. A dollar is always worth 100 cents—except on Dollar Day. Then it is worth all the way from 120 to 300 cents—in fact sometimes even more than that.

Dollar Day, tomorrow, will be the biggest day in the year for the shopper. No matter what the buyer wants, whether it is a can of sardines, a silk shawl or a razor hone—there will be a Dollar Day bargain somewhere in Oakland where he can get what he wants—and get it for less than usual.

Dollar Day announcements today are many. Bargain after bargain is to be offered in all the local stores. Some of the Dollar Day offerings are truly remarkable. Merchants have been preparing months ahead for the day and special orders of goods in large quantities and cash discounts have made possible the wonderful buys Oakland people will be able to make.

"Dollar Day" might be called "friend-making day," for that is its true object. The merchant figures the only profit on his Dollar Day deals to be the fact that he brings new people into his store and cements old friendships. This means holding his old customers and perhaps gaining new ones. It is also a celebration of a prosperous business year and a tangible "Thank you" to the people of Oakland who have made the merchant's businesses good in the past twelve months.

But anyway, what interests the buyer is that Dollar Day is Dollar Day—and he can get more for his dollar. And it's tomorrow.

Funeral of Salinas Man Is Held Here

The funeral of J. P. Mitchell, widely known business man of Salinas, took place this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Truman undertaking parlors. Interment was at Mountain View cemetery. Mitchell died suddenly in the valley city, where he was a senior member of the Salinas Valley Warehouse Association, one of the largest produce firms in that section of the state. He was a member of the Elks and had many social and business affiliations in Monterey county. His funeral was postponed until the arrival this morning of Dr. and Mrs. M. Stover of San Luis Obispo. Dr. Stover is a sister of the deceased.

Mitchell is survived by a widow, Mrs. Florence Mitchell, and two children, Ruth and Harold, of Salinas. His father was Thomas Mitchell, 2642 Dana street, Berkeley. Two brothers, M. J. Mitchell, San Francisco, and F. Mitchell, Oakland, and two sisters, Mrs. S. J. Kitzmiller, Berkeley, and Mrs. W. M. Stover, San Luis Obispo, survive. Services and interment were private.

Police to Play Game to Test Vigilance

Chief of Police Walter J. Petersen is preparing to test the vigilance of the members of his force when it comes to small infractions of the law. On some day this week—he has not named the day, but it will be between now and Saturday—an automobile will be sent through the city without drivers on the headlights, a violation of a law. Thus will Petersen find out just how vigilant his men are—he will count the number of reports which he receives on the dimmer-less car, which will go over, the beat of every patrolman in the city.

Petersen's plan is patterned after a recent action of Chief of Police White of San Francisco, who sent through the city a peddler's wagon without a license and in that manner sought to sharpen the wits and visions of his men.

Case Against Widow of Savant Delayed

Police Judge Mortimer Smith postponed the case of Mrs. Lida B. Simpson, widow of a Stanford professor, charged with having mulcted James H. Edelen, a West Oakland money lender, out of $600 in a check transaction, until September 19. At the preliminary examination last week Prosecuting Attorney Ezra Decoto agreed with M. S. Henlon, Mrs. Simpson's attorney, that the prosecution had failed to present a strong case against the woman.

"A COAT LIKE THIS I. D. E. S. HAS IS COMFORTABLE BUSY SESSIONS CATHERINE"

Interesting Program Is Pursued by Delegates at Monterey.

"Yes, I'm sure it must be. Where did you buy it? But never mind telling me. I haven't any money any way and I may as well resign myself to that old sweater and the coat of my quilt this summer."

"Nonsense. Wherever you need to be waked up to the MODERN WAY of buying clothes. It's absolutely the simplest and pleasantest way in all the world—its the CHERRY WAY that CHERRY'S make so easy."

"I'm still at sea, Jean. Do you mean that I, who don't own anything or couldn't offer any kind of security, can go up to CHERRY'S store and pay for the Coat I select in WEEKLY PAYMENTS?"

"I do, Catherine. Just try it! Let me whisper—my Coat cost me only $15! There are dozens of lovely ones at the same price, the latest models, all of them. I'm going to buy a Waist myself today, and you had better come to CHERRY'S with me and help pick it out. And Suite, Catherine, are actually selling for as little as ONE-HALF their regular prices."

"Agreed! Let's see, Jean, CHERRY'S address is 515 13th street, between Washington and Clay, Oakland, is it not?"

"Yes, Catherine, and they have a men's clothing store just across at 528. They also have two stores in San Francisco at 1009 Market and 2400 Mission streets. Other coast stores are at Portland, Tacoma, Los Angeles and Sacramento."—Advertisement.

MOOSE TO INITIATE. VALLEJO, Sept. 12.—The members of Vallejo Lodge No. 468, Loyal Order of Moose, are planning for a big time in this city on Saturday evening, Sept. 16, when a number of up-country residents will be initiated into the local lodge.

MONTEREY, Sept. 12.—The Supreme Council of the I. D. E. S. (The Divine Holy Ghost) is putting in a hard day's work today at its twenty-fourth annual convention held at the Hotel Monterey. Four hundred delegates and officers of the order are in attendance and nine hundred delegates are expected during the week.

A grand reception by the local lodge started the week's convention. Led by the lodge band, the visitors marched to San Carlos church for high mass yesterday morning. The Supreme Council held its first session yesterday afternoon.

Masor W. A. Lijlle of Monterey welcomed the delegates at the reception last night. An address was also delivered by Superior Judge C. A. Bardin of Monterey. Music was furnished by the Spanish Orchestra.

Organized in 1889 at Mission San Jose by Portuguese farmers, the I. D. E. S., as the order is known, has grown to be one of the strongest lodges in the state. J. P. Pinero of Hanford is supreme president. Other officers are: J. V. Deas of Oakland, supreme treasurer; J. C. Valm of Oakland, supreme secretary; A. M. Costa of Mill Valley, supreme vice-president; J. B. Avila of Merced, president of board of directors; M. S. Plexoto of Newark, dean; M. S. Silva of Sacramento, supreme doctor.

Los Angeles Chamber Recruiting Office

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12.—Recruiting offices for a reserve company of Coast Artillery to serve in case of emergency at Fort MacArthur, Los Angeles harbor, were opened here today. When enough recruits have been obtained, authority to organize will be requested of Governor Johnson, as commander in chief of the National Guard of California. Efforts will be made to recruit men who attended the civilian military training camp at Monterey, it was stated.

Village Gossips on Film A Vivid Tale of Ruin

VIRGINIA PEARSON.

Broadway Offers Fox Feature From Southland

"A Tortured Heart," a vivid tale of the evils resulting from village gossip in its reaction upon human lives, is the attraction at the Broadway theater today and tomorrow. Virginia Pearson, the heroine in this latest production of the William Fox studios, is a noted beauty of the southland in which the scene of the drama are laid, and her interpretation of the role of Lucille Darrell is carried out with exceptional feeling. The part of the blackmailing villain of the plot is taken by Stuart Holmes, the most successful of the black and lowering villains of film-land. In this scenario he is Leon Muller, who woe's pretty Marjorie (Marjorie Swayne), a foundling adopted by a clergyman, Rev. Joseph Lorraine (Stephen Grattan). In the part of Samuel Summers is found the talented English actor, Fuller Melish. The indoor scenes of the story are studio sets, but the outdoor scenes were filmed in Georgia. Starting on Wednesday, Kolb and Dill, the team of laugh producers, will appear in a five-reel photo play, "A Million for Mary." The plot is a happy mixture of comedy and drama. The program will also include a Gold-berg cartoon and some travelogues.

Mills College Heads to Be Dinner Guests

Professor David P. Barrows, dean of the University of California, and president of the Board of Trustees of Mills College, and Dr. Aurelia Reinhardt, president of the institution, will be guests of honor tonight at a dinner at the Hotel Oakland, when faculty and students will present the officers of the college to the women of Oakland. Noted speakers including President Ray Lyman Wilbur of Stanford and President Benjamin Ide Wheeler of the State University, will be heard. Arrangements have been made for 200 guests. The affair is planned to bring the women of Oakland in closer touch with the Oakland college. It is hoped by the students and the faculty that the general public may be made to more clearly understand the aims and see the work being done by the institution. The addresses will be on college work in general and the place that Mills College occupies in the state's educational system.

Civil War Romance Retold in 'Reunion'

NEWARK, Sept. 12.—A triple romance staged in the days immediately following the Civil war in which three dashing young officers of a Union regiment wooed and won three pretty states is recalled by the reunion of the now veteran soldiers and their brides of 60 years ago at the home of Dr. and Mrs. James Curry. At the close of the Civil war three young men, Maxwell, Miller and John O. Miller and James Curry, who had gone through the fighting in the same regiment, entered a Louisville, O., college, where they met three sisters, Agnes, Elizabeth and Margaret Sloan. Dr. Curry married the youngest sister, Margaret. A year later Miller married Agnes and their wedding in turn was followed by the nuptials of Walker and Elizabeth. They came to California at different times and the reunion at the Curry home was held this week.

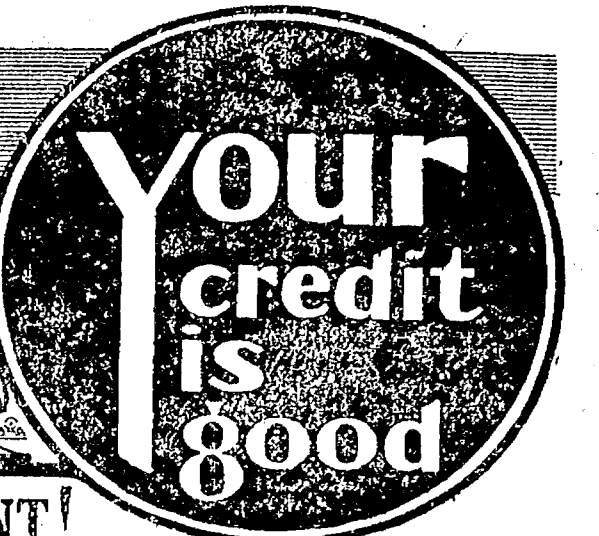

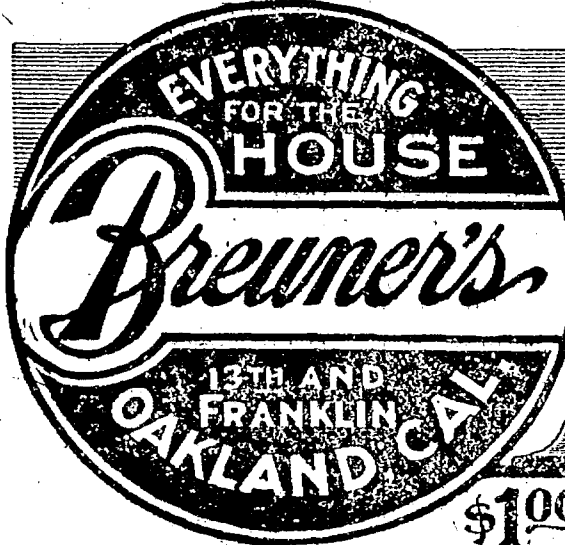

Foreman Missing; Fear Foul Play

LIVERMORE, Sept. 12.—Foul play, his relatives fear, accounts for the mysterious disappearance of James Ralph, foreman of the H. B. Wagon vineyard at Ripon. He has been missing for two weeks and no trace of him can be found. Ralph left Ripon for Stockton on August 6 to buy provisions for the employees of the ranch and a strange picker. He fulfilled both errands, engaging a laborer named Byron Ruten, on the way to the railroad station Ralph met a man he called "Charlie." He was last seen walking away in company with this man.

Why Society Women Wash Their Own Hair

Few realize how many society women now wash their own hair, not because it is a fad, but because they wish to obtain the greatest possible hair beauty and be sure they are not using anything harmful. The thousands who have found that in washing the hair it is never wise to use a makeshift but is always advisable to use a preparation made for shampooing only, say they get the best results from a simple home-made canthrox mixture. You can enjoy this, the best that is known, for about three cents a shampoo by getting and dissolving a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. Your shampoo is now ready. After its use the hair dries rapidly with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its lustre and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.—Advertisement.

SCHOOL FOR ARMY AVIATORS MILITIA HERE

Army Aviators to Be Trained on Alameda Flats for Work in Corps of Flying Fighters;
Guardsmen Get Preferences

Marsh Fields to Offer Many Advantages to Training of Young Men for Service With Units of National Defense

With the hum of motors through the upper air and the glint of the tipping planes in the sunlight, aviators for the United States army will be training over the Alameda marsh and looping-the-loop over Oakland within the next thirty days. The establishment of a flying school here under the personal charge of L. B. Gross, chief of the National Guard, has been arranged by Captain J. D. Smedberg, in charge of recruiting for the militia, who is anxious that Alameda county should organize an aviation corps and an auxiliary company.

WOLF TO INSTRUCT.
Herbert Wolf, the young Oakland aviator, who recently lowered a world's record for making figure eights in the air, while he was being examined by the Aero Club of America for his pilot's license, has enlisted in the aviation corps and will furnish instruction in aerobatics to a limited number of enlisted men. Plans are already under way to secure an airplane for the exclusive use of the local students and Captain Smedberg is negotiating for the location of an aviation field and hangars as soon as possible.

Any young man between the ages of 18 and 35 in good physical condition, who wishes to enter the aviation corps, the auxiliary company may do so by calling upon L. B. Gross at the headquarters of the recruiting detail on the second floor of the Bacon building.

GROSS STATES THAT IN THE ORGANIZATION OF THE auxiliary company and aviation corps preference will be shown to young men gifted with a knowledge of electricity, machinery, carpentry and cooking. In the selection of non-commissioned officers preference will be shown to those having had previous experience in the National Guard of California.

The organization of the auxiliary company will be of great value to the present National Guard units of this locality. When the local companies are finally mustered out of the federal service and back into the ranks of the National Guard of California, the members of the auxiliary company will be used to fill the gaps in the ranks of the other companies, caused by the discharge of physically disabled men and those who have wives and children dependent upon them.

Women's Bureau to Seek New Members

Members of the Women's Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce today are at work on a membership campaign, to be carried out by their organization in connection with the big campaign opened today by the membership council.

Details of the campaign were outlined last night at the home of Mrs. Nina Randall, 191. Fortieth street. Mrs. Elizabeth Sherman, chairman of the membership committee, has resigned, and will be replaced by another worker. The meeting last night was to discuss the methods of the campaign. A musicale was the social feature.

Borden Will Go Once More to Arctic Seas

NOME, Alaska, Sept. 12.—John Borden, millionaire sportsman of Chicago, whose power schooner Great Bear was wrecked on a pinnacle rock in Bering Sea August 19, left for Seattle on the steamship Umatilla yesterday. Nothing daunted by his hardships and financial losses, Borden says that he will build another ship next winter, engage Captain Louis L. Lane, his partner of this year, as commander, and set out on another Bering sea and Arctic coast cruise. Borden will arrive at Seattle next Saturday.

'Forces' Guide Him to Court

Even Tell Seely Size of His Bill

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—When F. E. Seely, head of the Seely Barber Supply Company, announced before Superior Judge Edward Shortall this morning that he had been in the habit of consulting "the forces" when he needed advice, Attorney Marcus Samuels, representing Seely's opponent in a suit to recover $400, promptly asked for a continuance. Seely is suing Frank Rizza, to recover money due for barber materials furnished.

"How do you know that the amount due you is $400?" asked Samuels.

"I consulted the forces," was Seely's astonishing reply.

"What do you mean? Spirits?" "I never call them spirits, but I get valuable information from the forces. While I am in doubt, I write them a letter placing it between slates. Then I get an answer."

"You honor, I have to have a continuance of this case," said Samuels, dumfounded, and the court gave him a week.

ADVERTISER TELLS OF OPTICAL SALES

W. D. Fennimore Describes
Publicity Methods Before Bureau.

How to sell spectacles by advertising was the topic discussed today before the advertising bureau of the Chamber of Commerce, when W. D. Fennimore, president of the Down Town Association of San Francisco, discussed the detailed workings of advertising campaigns he has used and others have used in the optical business.

The speaker traced the sale of spectacles from the days of the itinerant spectacle peddler to the era of the highly trained optician. He told of the early glasses, made in standard strengths and fitted by rough and ready opticians, and described also the new way of handling optician's cases.

He discussed salesmanship and advertising as suggested as first aid to successful optical salesmanship. He told of original ideas in optical displays and new manners of bringing an optician's business before the public.

Melrose Catholics to Dedicate Church

MELROSE, Sept. 12.—The new St. Bernard's Catholic church, located Sixty-second avenue near East Fourteenth street, which is an exact replica of the original church at Mount Carmel, will be dedicated by Archbishop E. J. Hanna, Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock. The Rev. P. X. Berkeley will sing the mass and there will be special music by an augmented choir.

The interior decorations have been carried out in old ivory and gold, with Siena marble columns and marble wall panels. The large stained glass windows represent the life of Christ. The church has a mission roof and Cuban tiles form the floor.

Chemists Are Blamed for Poisonous Gas

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—Two employees of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad Company, ambitious to perfect a sulphuric combination for battery use, are now blamed by the yachtsmen of Sausalito for the overnight change from the trim regatta white of their craft to a dirty, sickly gray.

POLISH RELIEF HEAD IS VISITOR

Isadore Herschfield, Who Saved
Land From Starvation, Confers With Aides.

After a successful visit to Southern California in the interest of the Polish relief work, Isadore Herschfield, known in the Eastern war zone as "the master bridge builder" because of the golden bridge he has built between New York and stricken Poland, is returning to the bay region, arriving in San Francisco on Thursday.

Herschfield has been in Oakland recently conferring with leading business men and financial institutions to secure Oakland's contributions to his philanthropic work. The response to his appeal here, despite the fact that but little publicity was given to his visit, was a most generous one.

After spending seven months in that part of Russia now held by the Austro-German armies, Herschfield returned to America to tell the sympathizers how they may send money to the desolated land by means of his bridge. Since last May he estimates that he sent $5,000,000 to Warsaw—contributions which he has collected and dispatched for relief.

When the "Teutons" took over 110,000 square miles of Russian territory, they immediately stopped the outgoing mails, as they feared the presence of spies in the country so lately held by the enemy. Before that time whole communities of impoverished Polish Jews had been entirely dependent on remittances from their more prosperous kin in America.

At the same time the retreat and advance of great armies had reduced them to further wretchedness. Many, driven from their homes to remote communities, had no means of sending their new addresses to friends and relatives in the United States. Relief funds, though generous, were insufficient to meet the needs of the homeless. About $50,000 drew from this source, and the milk supply was so reduced that nursing mothers were allowed but a half pint of milk a day.

At this juncture, Herschfield went to Poland. He visited forty cities and towns of the occupied territory, gathered the names of refugee Jews in need of immediate help. He overcame at last the opposition of the German and Austrian military authorities by a compromise. He secured the reopening of the mails. Proclamations were posted in German, Polish and Yiddish in many towns prescribing the set form by which Poles might write for aid to the United States. They were permitted to add nothing to this appeal and to address the letter only to the Hebrew Sheltering and Immigrant Aid Society of America, which had sent Herschfield to Europe.

Many Expected at Brooks Testimonial

Fred Emerson Brooks, the California poet whose home is now permanently in Berkeley, will be honored tonight at the Hotel Oakland by a testimonial arrangement arranged by his friends and admirers. An interesting musical program will be given by the Carol Quartet, composed of Barbara Miller, Edith L. Woodward, Marion E. Teller and Gladys Macdonald; Emmelle Elsie McCormack, pianist; Miss Lucy Van der Mark, contralto, and G. Demaree, cellist.

The idea of paying honor to a poet in his home community has aroused interest and a large attendance is assured. The Joaquin Miller Club will attend in a body and other literary organizations are planning to be present. Mr. Brooks will read "The Gravedigger," his latest poem, and other products of his pen during the course of the program.

Fire Flickers Out in Beaver's Hold

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—The fire in the hold of the steamship Beaver, which burned steadily all day yesterday and last night, was finally quenched this morning and the big coastwise liner made her way to drydock at pier 40. The vessel had been beached on the mudflats when the flames continued last night to eat their way through the hold and it was feared that disastrous consequences might follow.

Herb Doctors Must Go, Is Court's Orders

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—The United States District Court yesterday upheld the California law which prohibits persons without a license from practicing medicine.

Judge M. T. Dooling passed upon the matter, it being brought before him by Chinese herb doctors who were convicted in the Superior Court, the judgment being affirmed by the District Court of Appeals.

The California Supreme Court denied a petition for a writ of habeas corpus and the Chinese's attorney, Miss Philatha Michelson, then petitioned the Federal Court to free her clients. She contended that the medical law of this State deprived persons of their constitutional rights.

L. Kreiss & Sons' Most Important Furniture Sale Now In Progress

More Than $40,000 of Fine Furniture Reduced
From One-Quarter to One-Half

THE purpose of this sale is to effect the quick disposal of over $40,000 worth of our fine furniture. To insure such disposal of this portion of our stock, we have made on it reductions ranging from 25 to 50 per cent. The balance of our stock also bears a reduction—the minimum being not less than 10 per cent.

These are not simply newspaper figures, but actual reductions from standard prices on the finest furniture made. Not for years will good furniture be so cheap as it is today. Even the regular prices will have to be advanced, because everything that goes into furniture—wood, hardware, mirrors, labor—is constantly advancing in cost. Our decision to discontinue the lines offered in this $40,000 worth of high-grade furniture makes it possible for us to quote these low prices. By keeping people enlightened as to the newer, better, more economical, more beautiful things for the home, and by always providing them, this store has become a recognized home-furnishing institution. This occasion therefore becomes a real home-building sale—the kind of sale that lasting homes are made from, because all the furniture in it has been built for lasting service, built to make a home better, richer, more beautiful and more homelike. Every piece is at a saving as real as the money in your purse.

The following list is but a suggestion of the hundreds of desirable home-furnishing articles represented in our displays. Many of the interesting pieces are not in duplicate, consequently early inspection is advised.

SAVE YOUR FEET

Have you ever stopped to consider how important the condition of your feet is to your general welfare? If you don't take care of your feet you will, sooner or later, develop foot troubles that will lower your efficiency and cause you severe pain and general bad health.

HEADACHES

Thousands of men and women suffer from headaches every day. Some have headaches every week or every month, and still others have headaches occasionally, but not at regular intervals. The best doctor is often unable to find the cause of many of these headaches. The first step to remove it is to take a permanent cure. All he can do is to prescribe relief, but the headache returns as usual, and treatment is again necessary. If you suffer from headaches, no matter what their nature, take anti-kamnia tablets, and the result will be a permanent cure. You can obtain them at all drug stores in any quantity, 10c worth or more. Ask for K.

SICK-HEADACHES

Sick-headaches, the most miserable of all ailments, occur in the form of a K. Kamnia tablet. When you feel an attack coming on take two tablets, and in many cases, the attack will be averted. If it does not, take one tablet every two hours. The rest and comfort follow, can be obtained in no other way. Continue A-K Tablets bear the K monogram. At all druggists.

STEFANSSON TO CONTINUE EXPLORATION

Dr. Rudolph Anderson, Head of Part of Canadian Expedition, Reports Finding Vast Areas of Copper on Coronation Gulf

Other Party Is Expected to Try and Go Through Northwest Passage, Ending Long Voyage by the St. Lawrence

SEATTLE, Sept. 12.—Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the Canadian explorer, probably is continuing his investigation of the new island or continent which he discovered last year north of Prince Patrick Island, according to Dr. Rudolph M. Anderson, commander of the southern branch of the Canadian expedition which went north in the summer of 1913, who returned, in Seattle today. The expedition was in two parts, the northern, under Stefansson, which was to seek new land in the Polar Sea, and the southern, under Anderson, which was to make a topographical and geological survey of the country east of the mouth of the Mackenzie river, especially the copper deposits. Stefansson found new land, and Anderson found and mapped vast areas of lava containing copper deposits on Coronation Gulf and Bathurst inlet, workable by surface mining and the ore transportable to the Mackenzie river by construction of a railroad through a country comparatively level and presenting no great engineering difficulties.

Stefansson, with the large power boat Polar Bear, passed last winter at Princess Royal island, with fifteen white men, nineteen Eskimos, including women and children, and a large number of dogs.

Stefansson's heart was set on accomplishing the northwest passage next spring and summer and ending his voyage by ascending the St. Lawrence river to Montreal. If he undertakes this journey he will abandon the small boats now on Banks Island or send them back to Nome with small crews.

All the members of the Anderson party will leave for Ottawa about the middle of the week, to make reports to the Canadian government on the results achieved. Dr. Anderson said.

BIG ORE DEPOSITS.
We were especially instructed to survey the copper deposits already known and seek new ones. Every explorer, from the earliest times, had noted that the Eskimos east of the Mackenzie used knives, spearheads and other weapons and utensils hammered from copper, and the Coppermine river, which empties into the Arctic, got its name from minerals discovered many years ago. We found on Coronation Gulf and Bathurst inlet vast deposits of copper in low grade. We were not equipped to undertake mining operations, but upon the sides of cliffs we could measure the depth of successive flows of amygdaloidal lava containing nuggets of copper.

An Eskimo brought to us a lump of copper weighing forty pounds. There were seams in the lava that had been filled with pure copper. Geologist O'Neill took a sample of the rock, which will be assayed. He also made estimates of the area of ore in sight. This information is for the Canadian government and will not be published by us. The ore had had many of the characteristics of the Lake Superior copper rock. It is workable from the surface, and is near navigable water. It would be feasible to construct a railroad from the Mackenzie river, which is navigable five months of the year, to Great Bear lake which also is navigable much of the year. A further railroad line could be built from the lake to the copper fields, enabling the transportation of the ore to the interior of Canada by way of the Mackenzie river.

FIND COAL VEINS.
Our headquarters were on the south side of Dolphin and Union straits, which run out of the west end of the Coronation Gulf. We took from our vessels enough lumber to build a house. Along the beaches we found nearly enough small driftwood to keep us in fuel, but we also used coal that we took north with us. There is workable coal within ten miles of Franklin Bay, on the Arctic. This coal outcrops in ravines, veins several feet thick being found.

The Eskimos east of the Mackenzie are abandoning their copper and stone weapons and buying guns whenever they get a chance. Lately the Eskimos and Indians have been meeting at Great Bear Lake and trading and they have found this intercourse highly profitable to both sides, although formerly the Eskimos and Indians avoided each other. The Indians exchange ammunition, guns and other goods for fox skins and musk-ox hides. There are no Eskimos on Banks Island except during the summer, when they go to the island to hunt polar bears, which are abundant on the island but not on the mainland.

DISCOVER NEW MAMMALS.
Caribou are plentiful on all the islands. Walrus are seldom found on the shore of the mainland, but are abundant on Banks and other islands. The southern end of Victoria island has permanent Eskimo inhabitants. There is no salmon run in the Mackenzie and other Arctic rivers, but a large trout is abundant. All the fresh water lakes in the north are well stocked with large trout.

We probably have discovered a number of new species of small mammals, and we shall find out about that when the skins and skeletons are examined at Ottawa. It would not be possible to find a new species or even a new geographical variety of the large mammals. Our geological specimens probably contain new species of flowers, but we do not yet know certainly. The expedition, we regard as having accomplished its purpose.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1916.

MAINE HAS SPOKEN.

Maine is the first State to pass judgment on the administration. The result is decisive. A Republican Governor, two Republican United States Senators, a solid Republican delegation to the national House of Representatives, and a State legislature Republican in both branches. The returns are particularly significant when it is recalled that Maine went for Wilson in 1912, elected a Democratic Governor in 1914 and is now represented in Congress by one Democratic United States Senator and one Democratic member of the House of Representatives. Governor Curtis and United States Senator Johnson had the advantage of being incumbents and were backed by the national and State Democratic machines.

At this writing the plurality of the Republican governor-elect appears to be over 13,000. This exceeds the expectations of the Republican national and state committees. The contest was fought on national issues. The campaign cry of the Democratic candidates for United States Senators was, "A vote for us is a vote for Wilson."

Perhaps the chief significance of the election is the proof it furnishes that an overwhelming majority of the Progressives have come back into the Republican fold. Coming events cast their shadow.

ARCTIC EXPLORATIONS.

Great importance should not be given to the report of the non-existence of Crocker Land which Ensign Fitzhugh Green, United States Navy, has made following his return from a tour of Arctic discovery. Already there are indications that enemies of Rear-Admiral Robert E. Peary are planning to make an issue of that officer's veracity in Congress and try to deprive him of the credit of discovery of the North Pole. If any such action is taken it should be after experts, scientists and other explorers have thoroughly mulled over the question, and should not be based on the reports of youthful Ensign Green.

That Crocker Land should turn out to be an Arctic mirage does not to any extent disprove Admiral Peary's claims. Peary did not claim to have explored Crocker Land. He only said he thought he saw a circumpolar continent and indicated it tentatively on his topographical maps. The land has since been removed from the maps in the United States hydrographic office. Mr. Donald McMillan, an old Arctic explorer, and at one time a comrade of Peary's, went to look for Crocker Land and also thought he saw it. But when he went to explore it it proved to be a mirage. This fact corroborates the honesty of Admiral Peary's claims regarding the phenomena.

If an effort is to be made to deprive Peary of the credit of locating the North Pole, and to cashier him from the navy, as Secretary Daniels appears willing to do, let us proceed from something more substantial than the claims of Ensign Green or "Doctor" Cook. Let the country be spared another nerve-racking war of theorists.

The extent of the cantaloupe industry in California may be gauged in some degree from the fact that the Santa Fe established a cantaloupe special to eastern points. One of the trains consisted of thirty-eight cars, some of which contained other fruit, however. Though the greatest cantaloupe center is understood to be the Imperial valley country, these specials were made up in the San Joaquin valley, mostly assembled at Fresno.

The National Association of Master Bakers has resolved to abolish the five-cent loaf, and make the ten-cent loaf standard. That is to say, if their plan is carried out, a loaf of bread will be of the same size, weight, appearance, cost and contain the same ingredients that all other loaves do all the way across the country from Portland, Oregon, to San Diego. For one thing, there is some danger of this cloying the national palate. But the chief thing that the consumer would like to know about the abolition of the five-cent loaf is just what it means. If the ten-cent loaf means twice as much bread as the five-cent loaf at no more than double the cost, there can be little complaint. If it means anything else, there will be complaint. And if it results in dissatisfaction around the family board that will eventuate in the revival of the good old fashion of baking the family loaf at home there will not be so much complaint.

USELESS CENSUS WORK.

In explaining why he asked for the resignation of a census bureau official, Secretary of Commerce Redfield has given some interesting information regarding the work of this bureau. He says:

The census work was found to be sadly behind. So much so that much of it which cost the government large sums was either of such a nature or so long delayed that the expenditure upon it proved useless. For example, there was spent on the interrogatory known as the Mother Tongue Inquiry an amount which the records show to be upward of $100,000; there was spent approximately $150,000 upon a special inquiry as to occupations—from neither have any results whatever come. The regular investigation on wealth, debt and taxation for the year 1902 was not published until 1907.

The report as to statistics of cities for the year ended January 31, 1911, was published February 1, 1913, two years afterward. The report of statistics for cities for the year ended January 31, 1912, was published November 1, 1913, twenty-one months after. The physical statistics of cities collected in 1909 were published July 23, 1913—four years afterward. Although three and one-half years have now elapsed since the enumeration, much of the thirteenth census work is still uncompleted.

This is not wholly new information. The uselessness of much of the census work and the valuelessness of tomes upon tomes of census publications are well known. Persons who have the courage to read them must guess at their purpose. Not only is the information often worthless—if it were correct—but in many cases it is inaccurate and in most cases obsolete before it reaches the general public. Mr. Redfield has shown one of the causes for this; it takes three or four years to get the data printed in bulletin form.

Reform will not be accomplished by dismissing a civil service employee and filling his place with a deserving Democrat—or Republican. Much more effective would be the abandonment of all the bureaucratic sinecures and the work they are supposed to do.

SAFETY FIRST IN NOGALES.

From advices it appears that bullet-proof rooms are an advertised feature of certain hotels in Nogales, Arizona. During these dreary days of "watchful waiting" the zipp of bullets is somewhat of a familiar sound to Nogales residents as well as to strangers temporarily domiciled within the city. An enterprising hotel proprietor, usurping the somewhat dormant functions of the government, conceived the idea of making guests safe by shielding his southern exposure rooms with sheet iron. This "safety first" idea caught on, and owners of other hostleries, seeking to go him one better, advertised increased thickness of sheet iron.

Democratic campaign speakers who visit Nogales prior to the November election, even though assigned to rooms with a southern exposure, can retire without trepidation after eloquently dwelling upon the fact that "Wilson has kept us out of war." Ensconced against Villa's bullets they can dream of the "peace" prevailing on the border, their slumbers undisturbed, thanks to the ingenuity of thoughtful and up-to-date innkeepers.

The agricultural courses at the State University will begin October 2 and continue till November 10. Farmers, their wives and others interested in husbandry have the opportunity gratis to attend the lectures at the university farm at Davis, which will treat specifically of agriculture, horticulture, dairying, poultry and stock raising, and other subjects that interest the husbandman. Object lessons will illustrate the lectures. Truck raisers will be interested in ten acres of lettuce, cabbage, cauliflower and other truck that is maturing or has matured at the farm, and stock raisers will be interested in hog-feeding and sheep-feeding experiments which will be brought to a close during the session.

The commission to devise a plan for the pacification and restoration of order in Mexico resumed its sessions on Monday at New London, Connecticut. Thus far the commission seems to have made small headway even in proposing a scheme. Nothing but force is considered effective, a fact which is evident from the summoning of General Bliss, conversant with the situation from a military point of view. The pacification of Mexico will be accomplished when some genius arises superior to all the warring chiefs, or when the United States takes the matter in hand and proceeds with the understanding that it has a big and ugly job on hand, which nevertheless must be put through.

The number of infantile paralysis cases in New York City has passed the 10,000 mark, with over 2000 deaths. The epidemic has been raging for two months and new cases are still developing at the rate of from fifty to seventy-five a day. This is a warning to other cities to exercise the strictest watch and use every possible preventive measure.

NOTES and COMMENT

"Three hundred mules haul 200 tons" is a lead off in the news. Sounds like one of those old-time problems from the impossible arithmetic that used to worry us at school.

Now Russia has restricted the sale of meat, which puts Europe further along in the matter of a diet. This restriction is not likely to result in more cavaliere to the general.

Opinion seems to be about equally divided among the social high-ups as to whether a veterinary surgeon should be designated a "scholar and gentleman." It is horse and horse.

Economic principle promulgated by the Colusa Sun: "Every young man should remember that if his income is just a little above expenses every day he will eventually become well off."

The Hanford Sentinel finds him indefinite, as usual: "In a speech to suffragists President Wilson said: 'I am fighting with you.' That statement is susceptible of two radically different constructions."

"England faces great danger of wide rail strike." From this distance it would seem that they might be patriotic enough to wait till this complexity with outside foes is over before getting up ructions at home.

The autoist who flees after running down a person incurs much more serious consequences than he would by staying with the accident and lending a hand. But some of them are very slow in getting this fact.

The New York youth of 18 who shot himself ineffectually because he had been "jilted" is now talking about it to the effect that he is a fool. Unless a fellow says something that is not already known and palpable he is not interesting.

An Indian who was refused the right to vote applies to the courts. He is new to politics. Four years ago all the Republicans in California were refused the right to vote for a Presidential candidate of their faith, and they couldn't do a thing.

As to sharks, there is an account of some fishermen being "aghost" at hooking a big "man-eater," weighing 200 pounds. A man-eating shark that weighs only 200 pounds might be a middling-sized fish, but not much of a man-eater, the chances are.

These kind and heartening words are from the Riverside Enterprise: "If the other twenty-six Oaklanders refuse to change their name, there is nothing left for the Oakland to do but keep on growing and making the others look like 10 cents. Where are they, anyhow?"

The Marysville Democrat flouts a cherished theory of T. R.: "Big families nothing!" The limitation of the size of a family in every instance should be the probable ability of the parents to give their children the advantages to which they are rightfully entitled in the world.

A Nevada view of it: "The Congressional grant of an eight-hour day at ten hours' pay to train operatives promises an assortment of trouble as varied as the brew of the witch's cauldron. Already a shop strike on twenty-two railroads looms on the horizon. Discrimination breeds discontent."

Sunday's harvest of fatalities was fully up to the average. It demonstrated that the number of people who go out in frail boats that they have imperfect knowledge of handling, and of other people who have not yet realized the possibilities and variation of accidents that may happen to automobiles, has not materially lessened.

Many of the men of the Fifth California Regiment, now encamped at McKinley Park, Sacramento, refuse to sign the national defense act. They are understood to be sore over something in their experience down on the border. Which is the first overt sign on the part of returned soldiery of that disgruntlement that was so often hinted at and as frequently denied.

This account of real sport, "The art of killing doves," appears in the Hotville Tribune: "Jack Brenahan and Tommy Harris went hunting last night and made a big dove kill. Jack killed twenty and Tommy nineteen doves. Both Jack and Tommy are masters at the art of killing doves. All they do is just ride out in the country, scare up a flock of the cooing doves and shoot, shoot, shoot—and they have all they can eat."

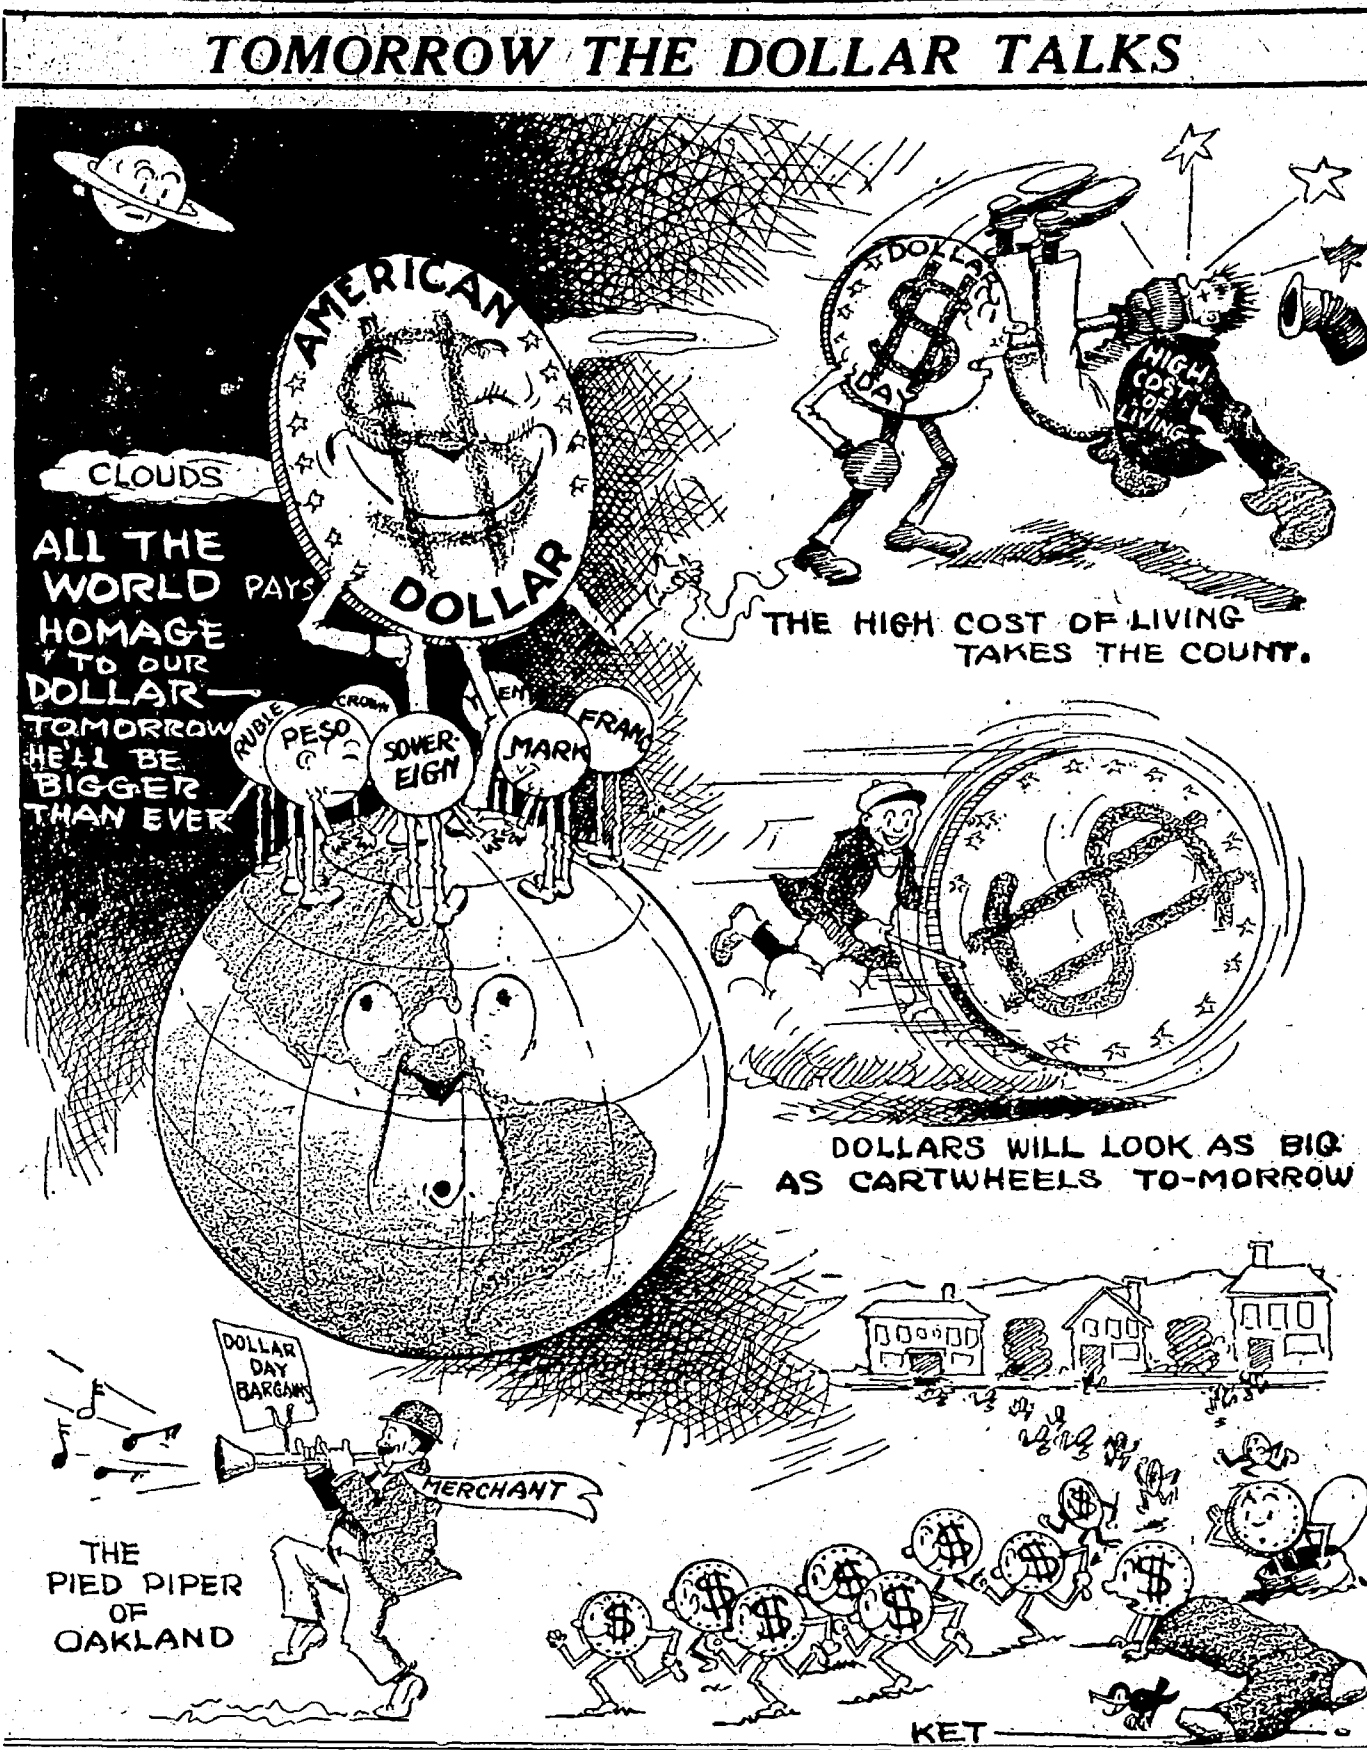

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS

Nearly 600 convicts are taking a university extension course at San Quentin. There are no frats, no yells, no queening, and no football. Most of them are Spanish. One burglar is studying journalism and a life term is learning philosophy.—San Luis Obispo Tribune.

It looks as though those whose machines were destroyed in the Sperry mill fire will not be able to recover either from the Southern Pacific Company or the Sperry Mill people. Two of the owners of cars that were badly damaged have interviewed officials of both corporations and it is understood that they were informed that nothing could be done for them.—Vallejo News.

The Southern Pacific ferry steamer Bay City has been placed on the Vallejo-Vallejo Junction run, and will run on an extra schedule with the El Capitán during the time that the Sacramento trains are being routed through here.—Vallejo Times.

The U. S. cruiser Boston, a member of the famous white squadron at the battle of Manila bay, is to be taken from Portland to Bremerton navy yard within a week and sold to the highest bidder for junk. Until recently the Boston had been assigned to the Oregon naval militia.—Petaluma News.

SOME ODD PROVERBS

"Proverbs embrace the wide sphere of human existence, they take on the colors of life, they are often exquisite strokes of genius, they delight by their airy sarcasm or their caustic satire, the luxuriance of their humor, the playfulness of their turn, and even by the elegance of their imagery, and the tenderness of their sentiment."

How many proverbs there are in existence, no man could say. To Solomon alone are attributed no fewer than 3000 proverbs, and though it is noted that Americans have few proverbs of their own, owing to the newness of the country, and the fact that people from every land enter into the national life, their weather proverbs alone, collected by the United States government some years ago, made a book of no fewer than 145 pages.

That "there is no proverb which is not true" is itself a proverb on proverbs, but when proverbs contradict, can both be accurate? Even Solomon offered the choice of direct opposites:

Answer a fool according to his folly, lest he be wise in his own conceit. Answer not a fool according to his folly, lest thou also be like unto him.

One cynic regarding proverbs has even gone so far as to declare that "There are forty proverbs about the bear, and the rest are mere rubbish concerning him."

It is singular, at first sight, how largely animals are referred to in proverbs, but since proverbs are built on men's lives and their observation, it is really not so odd. As the compiler of this book well observes, whatever the prevailing employment of any community, the people are always acquainted with animal life, and are quick to observe in the appearance and traits of beasts and birds, and even fish, reptiles and insects resemblances of men.

The docile sheep reminds them of obedient children or tractable servants; the strutting peacocks with their large and beautiful tails, of gaudily dressed women; the cunning foxes, of unprincipled and shrewd tradesmen; the chirping crickets, of care-free merry-makers.

The robin and the wren are God's cock and hen; the martin and the swallow are God's mate and marrow. English they may be, but they are certainly rarely quoted, and to most people will be entirely unfamiliar.

But a number of the proverbs quoted by the compiler as English will be strange to most ears. How many know, as a variation of the familiar "making a virtue of necessity," "Ahem," as Dick Smith said when he swallowed the disinfectant? "Who was Dick Smith?" Here are two more proverbs, given as English, which many people will read for the first time:

My name is Twyford. I know nothing of the matter. "Nay, stay," quoth Stinger, when his neck was in the halter.

Possibly the proverbs have a strictly localized circulation. One does not often hear in the South that "He will be hanged for leaving his liquor, like the saddler of Bawtry?" An unfortunate who, it is fairly common usage. Who was the saddler of Bawtry? An unfortunate who, while under sentence and on his way to the gallows, refused to stop at an alehouse along the road. Soon after he was hanged a reliever arrived.—Curiosities in Proverbs.

"EFFECTS OF A BAY BRIDGE"

To the Editor of The Tribune:

Referring to Mr. A. S. Lavenson's article of September 4:

"I believe the gentleman is sincere, but laboring under a sad illusion as to the status of the commuter in the east bay cities."

From the tenor of the article, I believe he is opposed to the bridge but hesitates to place himself on record at this time. Therefore, he discusses the unfortunate commuter. If I am right, Mr. L., let me as a commuter, offer you my hand, and let's us make a determined stand against the proposed bridge. But not because of the sins of the commuted. Oh no; well place our objection on the broader plane of loyalty to our city by merely pointing out that Oakland is now by natural right the western terminus of all transcontinental railway lines centering on San Francisco bay, which proud position would be immediately forfeited by the building of a bridge such as is contemplated. Every freeholder in Oakland (including the commuters) should see the force of such an argument.

Now as to the commuter and his children within our gates. I have been a resident and property owner in Oakland for several years. I have never had a pupil in her schools. But, with many other good men and true, similarly situated, I have always contended for proper school facilities for those who had. The reason is obvious. "We feel that an educated man or woman must necessarily be a much better citizen than one who has, for any reason, failed to secure such a blessing. I know you will agree with me in this. You will also agree that no man can better serve his fellow men than by assisting in the education of his children. Bring on your bond issue for additional school buildings, etc. We commuters will gladly pay our share of the taxes necessary for the support of our schools, as well as the rest of our public institutions."

Why can we not have a broader spirit prevailing among our people? "Is the progress of a city? Whether 'tis the western waterfront or the estuary inner harbor. East Oakland, North Oakland, West Oakland or the downtown district. It is all one city and improvements made in one section are bound to boost our city just that much. Let us discourage these factional or sectional differences as much as possible and get together in one strong pull for a better and bigger city. Then when the proper time comes, we can meet San Francisco on terms of equality with equal strength at the ballot box, and say we are now ready to join you in building a bridge or anything else that will benefit our common interests. Until then we should oppose the bridge project and confine our operations to Alameda county, extending to all an invitation to join us in the progressive work in hand."

Oakland, September 11, 1916.

SANTA CRUZ FIRE RAGES UNCHECKED

Property of Mayor Rolph and Charles Deering in the Path of Flames; Fire Fighters Are Rushed to Save Rural Home

Blaze Endangers Deer Paddock and Back Firing Is Tried; Breeze Shifts and Animals Are Saved; Loss $100,000

BAN JOSE, Sept. 12.—Under a freshening breeze, the brush and forest fire which is sweeping the Santa Cruz mountain district, spread with alarming rapidity today, and scores more fighters were rushed to the endangered districts to help control the flames.

At 10:30 a. m. telephone reports from the Los Altos region indicated that the property of Charles Deering of the Union Trust Company and Clarence Lotcher, the San Jose garage proprietor, was in greater danger than at any time since the blaze began, despite the desperate efforts of an army of firefighters carried on for nearly forty-eight hours.

Louis O'Neal of San Jose and Mayor Rolph of San Francisco are taking heroic measures to save their property. Rolph sent a large force of firefighters to the scene by motor truck.

Latest telephone advices were that the flames were raging along a two-mile front and that the heat which the firefighters must endure is intense.

During the night the firefighters were unable to make headway against the fire, excepting on the Rolph ranch. The flames threatened the paddock where Mayor Rolph confined a herd of pet deer. Backfiring was quickly started. This, and a fortunate shift in the direction of the wind, saved the animals.

The estimate of the total property damage so far places it in excess of $100,000.

SONOMA COUNTY FIRE. SANTA ROSA, Sept. 12.—Six forest and brush fires are raging this afternoon in the hills surrounding the principal valleys of Sonoma county. The most serious fire is in the Cazadero section, where two square miles of territory has been burned over and the fire is now advancing on a seven-mile front, principally along Austin creek.

The Northwestern Pacific railroad is rushing between 75 and 100 section hands to aid the rangers and lumbermen combating the flames.

Women Would Judge Hubbies Suggest Juries on Laziness

A method of compelling the enforcement of the "lazy husband" law suggested by the Child's Welfare League at the meeting at Hotel Oakland, is to place women upon the juries trying men for failure to provide for their families.

In the opinion of many members of the league, there will be little tendency for feminine juries to let the plaintiffs off on probation. "Thumbs will be down. Not to the lions, but to the roads, where he will labor for money that will go to his family, with him!"

So enthusiastically was the solution of having women on juries for the purpose of trying men who had not fulfilled their domestic obligations seized upon, that it was proposed to write a letter to the superior judges, suggesting that they carry out the idea.

JUDGES WOULD AGREE. In this they were supported by Deputy District Attorney William Satterwhite, who declared that he believed that if women show that they really desire women on juries, the judges will be ready to place them there. He added that his office would supply the league with a list of 300 women from whom jurors might be selected.

Miss Beatrice McCall, head of the the Woman's Protective Bureau, said there is no good reason why the board of supervisors cannot carry out this law and put the "lazy husband" to work upon the roads at $1.50 a day.

The secret of the board's refusal lies in the fact that these roads are now kept up by political patronage in the districts of Supervisors Hoyer and Murphy. Chief of Police Petersen is responsible for the statement that the members of the chain gang earn at least $2 a day each. So the county can certainly afford to pay the men $1.50 and not go bankrupt.

PASS RESOLUTION. After figures were read by Miss Bessie Wood, showing that the Associated Charities can now give a deserted wife $12 a month while, if the husband were put to work, the woman would receive $39 a month, a resolution was passed requesting judges to hold men guilty of failure to provide to answer instead of being let off on probation.

On Thursday, the members of the league, with the president, Mrs. A. D. Kennedy will be present at the supervisors' meeting and again request an appropriation of money to carry out the "lazy husband" law.

Coyote Pelts Are Trappers Treasure

Armies Bid for Hides Offer Big Fees

INDEPENDENCE, Cal., Sept. 11.—Displaced and cursed by ranchmen for years as a useless, howling night prowler, the skulking California coyote today is being driven from his sagbrush haunts of the Mojave desert and San Joaquin valley and is taking to the lofty Sierra Nevada, one of the most sought after animals in the state.

The prospect of coyote hides wanted to shield allied soldiers from the rigors of winter trench life jumping from $8 to $10 brought a rush of trappers and hunters here today.

Many the hungry "wild dogs" Owens Valley natives call the roamers, have been driven from the low lying hills that fringe the desert, into the heights between Mount Whitney and American peak. Trapper Thomas W. Key is one of the busiest workers

Love? Chemistry? Science Asking

Savant Explains a Kiss; Moonshine, Suggests

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Love is only a chemical reaction; you can get the same sensation by stroking a cat.

Dr. A. A. Lindsay, expert psychopathist, passes this tip out to a world of lovers while the moon is still full. "There is nothing in this so-called love; that is really nothing but the thrill of physical contact, as for instance kissing," said Dr. Lindsay. "After you have kissed the same girl many times the thrill goes out of the kiss. Then you or the girl discover that love never existed between you."

For the allies here. Within a few months he has taken 1600 pelts. The finest specimens, he says, are located above the 12,000-foot line in the Sierra Nevada.

FARMERS OF U. S. TO AID IN MEXICO

Commission Greets Idea of Rehabilitation of Agricultural Area With New Blood From the States With Approval

American Teachers Also Are Suggested as Force for Good in Struggling Republic Where Need of Literacy Is Greatest

NEW LONDON, Conn., Sept. 12.—American farmers to till Mexican soil and American teachers to train Mexican minds—that was a plan before the American-Mexican peace commission today.

Such a program was intended to be part of Mexico's contemplated regeneration. The commission agreed that it would be feasible.

EXAMPLE NEEDED. As formulated thus far, the scheme is only to have such numbers of Americans as will set an example for the Mexicans and there is every intention to avoid anything that smacks of American interference or control.

The Mexicans presented data today, supplementing yesterday's, to show that there is an honest effort to make the rich country below the Rio Grande blossom anew after six years of civil strife. They told the American commissioners that while crops in some parts of Mexico have suffered from lack of labor, other portions showed a remarkable productivity.

These essential underlying economic problems will be thoroughly probed before the question of withdrawing American troops is determined definitely. Both sides agree that work must be provided and that the uneducated must be taught before Mexico can have any assurance of continued progress.

OFFER CONDOLENCES. President Wilson's presence in New London, six miles from the Griswold Hotel, commission headquarters, had no effect upon the meetings. The American group explained that their visit there last night was strictly to pay their condolences and not to talk Mexican matters.

Secretary of the Interior Lane and his conferees hoped to be able to report to the President within the next few days a definite plan contemplating withdrawal of American forces from Mexico and restriction of the border patrol with fewer men than at present.

TWO DIE IN CAR STRIKE IN NEW YORK

"Green" Motorman Loses Control on Steep Grade, Causing Smash Up of Two Jitneys; 4 of 13 Injured May Succumb

No Wheels Turn in Yonkers or New Rochelle; Congestion on All Lines Increased; Company Claims Loyalty of Few

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—The first serious accident of the street railway strike in this city occurred early today when a jitney car of the Union Railway Company in the Bronx operated by a "green" motorman got beyond control on a steep grade, and jumping the track at a curve, crashed into two jitney buses, killing two persons and severely injuring thirteen others. Four of the injured may die. The crew was arrested pending investigation.

After a night of intermittent rioting motormen on the Sixth and Ninth avenue elevated roads reported to the police that they had been fired upon by strikers from roof tops.

Third avenue elevated trains were repeatedly bombarded with bricks and stones from buildings. One passenger, a woman, was struck on the head and seriously injured. Four arrests were made.

The congestion on the subway and elevated roads today was even more pronounced than yesterday, due to the fact that there was little or no service on the surface lines of Manhattan and the Bronx. Not a car wheel moved in the Westchester cities of Yonkers, Mount Vernon and New Rochelle.

Union leaders claim hundreds of subway and elevated employees have joined the union within the last twenty-four hours. Traction officials maintain that all of their employees who signed the "master and servant contract" remained loyal.

Hugh Frayne, state organizer of the American Federation of Labor, insisted today that a general walk-out by all labor unions was not being considered. He said the present plans of the leaders contemplated calling out the unions closely allied to the striking railroad men.

John T. Riley, chairman of the International Longshoremen's Union, declared that the members of his organization, numbering between 8,000 and 10,000, are voting on the advisability of declaring a sympathetic strike.

Frayne said that if a sympathetic strike were called it probably would not involve more than 60,000 workers. In this class, he named engineers, firemen, longshoremen and teamsters.

Car Shortage Grows Worse in Oregon

SALEM, Ore., Sept. 12.—Oregon's car shortage on the Southern Pacific line has reached 1544, the greatest in the state's history. Reports from the Southern Pacific showed that the company had orders on file for 1503 freight cars and that only 25 cars were available.

The public service commission has been notified by the Dwauna Box Company of Klamath Falls that it could obtain no cars and would be forced to close at once. Investigation of the Southern Pacific's manner of distribution of cars in the Klamath district was asked. The company alleged that the system of distribution was improper.

Royal Regrets To Butters' Kin Family of Young Officer to Seek Body

The death of Harry A. Butters, who was killed in action while serving in a lieutenant's position with the British army in Flanders, has been officially recognized by the King and Queen of England. A cable to Charles Butters, the inventor and promoter of 6372 Chabot Road, conveys the regret of the European rulers for the tragic death of Butters. It reads as follows:

Buckingham Palace, London, September 11, 1916. The King and Queen deeply regret the loss you and the Army have sustained by the death of Second Lieutenant Butters in the service of this country. Their Majesties truly sympathize with you in your sorrow.

(Signed) KEEPER OF THE PRIVY PURSE. Charles Butters, the young man's uncle, leaves September 30 for London on the American steamship "Philadelphia." While there in the interests of his nitrate industry, he will inquire into the location of his nephew's body and obtain particulars of his death on the field of battle.

The body is buried somewhere in France, and, according to word from the Butters home, cannot be recovered until after the war. The young officer was 23 years old, son of the late Henry A. Butters, Piedmont, Cal., and a native of Oakland. Educated in England for the most part, he entered the service of Britain with the 1st of Beaumont College, Windsor.

FIND POISON IN EXHUMED GIRL'S BODY

SEATTLE, Sept. 12.—The police today resumed their investigation into the relations existing between Miss Anna Maria Danielson, member of a wealthy Iowa family, who died under mysterious circumstances here July 15, and "Dr. Percival V. Allen. They received information from Minneapolis that poison had been found in Miss Danielson's body by Dean Frankforter of the University of Minnesota, who completed a chemical analysis yesterday.

Allen, who introduced Miss Danielson as his wife here, was convicted yesterday of a statutory offense because of his relations with the woman. Investigation by the police disclosed that Allen met Miss Danielson on a steamer coming to Seattle from San Francisco. She obtained a marriage license at Tacoma, but no return on it has ever been made.

After Miss Danielson's death Allen told the police he had a wife living in Los Angeles. Her maiden name, he said, was May Margaret Scott. She is said to be now living in Oakland. Miss Danielson died a few days after she and Allen took up their residence here.

POISON IN WATER TANK IS SOUGHT

Detective Takes Sip of Fluid Said to Contain Drug, But Suffers No Hurt; Analysis Is Being Made by City Chemist

Neighbors Are Blamed Following Quarrels Over War; Woman Is Sure Opponents of Allies Made Up the Plots

Attaches of the municipal health office will today tell the police whether or not the water in the tank at the home of Mrs. G. A. Van Linge, 2241 Eighty-fourth avenue, who yesterday complained that she believed her neighbors had placed poison in the tank, contains a deadly drug. Dr. P. P. Musser, city bacteriologist, is making an examination of a sample of the water.

Police Inspector Frank Nells, who was detailed on the case by Captain of Inspectors L. F. Agnew, today took a sip of the water, and suffering no ill effects, Mrs. Van Linge and her two children, Lincoln, aged two, and Cornelius, eight months, are still suffering with an illness which began after they had taken some of the water three days ago. Miss Germaine Gassion, Mrs. Van Linge's sister, who is visiting her, is also still suffering from the effects of a mysterious illness, suffered after drinking some of the water.

WATER IS RENEWED.
Nells was not ill from his taste of the fluid, but the police place no particular emphasis on this fact, as the water in the windmill tank on Van Linge place is continually being renewed.

Mrs. Van Linge reported to the police that the illness in her family followed a series of quarrels with neighbors. The trouble increased upon the publication of an account in local papers of the decoration of Jean Gassion, brother of the two women, by the French government.

GIVEN HIGH HONOR.
Gassion is a soldier in the French army and was recently awarded a cross of the Legion of Honor for bravery in action. Neighbors of Mrs. Van Linge, natives of countries opposed to the entente allies and many quarrels resulted.

Mrs. Van Linge said:
I have heard some one prowling about the tank house on two different occasions. I thought nothing of it.

To Graze Goats on Magnates' Lawns Eccentric Woman Is Lake Forest Prowler

LAKE FOREST, Ill., Sept. 12.—Mary Hickey, eccentric domestic, now pasturing her donkey and her goats on the lawn of any Lake Forest millionaire's home as she pleases and pick out her abode for the night as she sees fit.

Prentiss L. Conley, millionaire, in whose home she has lived for the last three months without his knowledge, has dropped his case against Mary. Conley had asked the court to investigate as to Mary's sanity. Mary, it is said, has for the last ten years been living in the homes of Lake Forest millionaires without their knowledge.

"I'm going to drop the case," said Conley. "I do not wish to appear in the light of persecuting the poor old creature. I think she must be insane, but the judge thinks she is harmless, and Mary herself has promised to be good, so I have washed my hands of the whole business."

Conley declared he thought he was doing Lake Forest a favor by trying to have Mary put away. "I am not the only person in whose home she has lived clandestinely. She has played the same trick in twenty-five other homes. She doesn't work," said Conley.

Conley declared Mary would get into Lake Forest homes through the connivance of servants, among whom, he said, "there seemed to be a happy conspiracy to support Mary."

Mary's goats have Lake Forest's "concrete" goats," he said. "But what can they do? But Mary should worry."

Mrs. William Gottmer, a friend of Miss Hickey, declared that while Mary might be a trifle peculiar she was not insane. "She is peculiar, yes, but not insane. She loves her pets and she loves little children," said Mrs. Gottmer.

ELECTRIC MEN MEET.

An interesting part of the program was an illustrated lecture by L. E. Voyer of the Edison Lamp Company on the "Manufacture of Incandescent Lamps."

until my children, my sister and myself became ill. I remembered the illness followed the drinking of water from the tank.

The neighbors have been very dissatisfied. They have broken a number of windows about the place here.

RAILS NOW SPAN ALASKAN SNOWS

Construction of U. S. Line From Seward to Fairbanks Progresses.

SEWARD, Alaska, Sept. 12.—A government railroad gang driving a line across a wild bit of Alaska and breaking the age-old silence of the almost primeval section with the prosaic locomotive tools and crashes of falling timber, is meeting unusual situations and mixups heretofore unknown to construction workers. The road is the American government's first venture in that branch of the transportation business and when completed, will connect Fairbanks, the metropolis of the Tanana valley, and the coal fields of Matanuska with the seaport of Seward, which is never closed by ice.

Often gangs away out on the outskirts of the line are forgotten, or overlooked by the headquarters commissary department and have hard times getting their supplies. Rival engineers compete for construction material at the supply station in order that the display by France in the judgment of the aviator as to playground and recreation matters is the result of his years of experience.

Advance guards of the road have already penetrated far into the Tanana country, some 150 miles inland from Seward. Lieutenant Frederick Mears, of the Alaska Railroad Commission, has charge of the work.

When headquarters were built at Anchorage, the gang faced the problem of unloading ships by barges in an eight-knot tide. Every Alaska "sound" knot in the section had his own ideas about the problem and none were backward in advising. Lieutenant Mears. The question was solved by the erection of "gridiron" at the mouth of a creek at Anchorage. The barges are loaded from the ships anchored off the town and then hauled onto this gridiron at high tide. When the tide goes out they are left high and dry and are unloaded at leisure onto the cars or warehouses.

When the longshoremen were striking up and down the coast, there was trouble in getting supplies to Anchorage. And after they did arrive there was competition between representatives of the cooks of the different camps as to who was to get the most. Sometimes it was a "survival of the fittest" and the camp with the strongest representative often had more to eat than their fellow workers who sent a little man to town. Often they were represented by a dog named "Survival."

Even after the supplies were on the train en route to camps far out along the line they were not always safe, for intermediate camps would stall the trains sometimes and help themselves to the supplies. Advance gangs change their positions suddenly and carry but few supplies, depending upon the commissary department. They keep them supplied. Sometimes they are forgotten or overlooked and then send in hurry calls. In response to one hurry call, one camp once received ten barrels of sauerkraut. On the next call it was a whole beef, several cases of tomato catsup and nine kegs of pickles. For two days the men lived on beef and pickles and then moved, depositing the remainder in the brush along the track and leaving one of their number to Anchorage, to hold conference with the steward.

There is considerable rivalry to obtain construction material among the division engineers. With one head, the factories sometimes delay their shipments. Each engineer wants to make a good showing and were it not for the guiding hand of the Alaska Railroad Commission, which has charge of the work, the most aggressive division head would take his choice and the others would take what they could get. But the work is progressing rapidly as the commission is handling the supplies.

MAY WEDDING ARRIVES IN COURT BY AUTUMN
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—Application for a divorce by Mrs. Helen Saxe from her husband, Arthur Cook Saxe, has caused a stir in San Francisco society. The Saxe romance, now broken by the bride's appeal to the courts, began last spring when their marriage was a social event of importance.

Mrs. Saxe alleges "bodily cruelty," together with the mental variety and complaints that she spent five days in hospital as a result of her husband's abuse. She is living with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. James W. Ward, at the Fairmont Hotel. Saxe is a University of California graduate, where he was active in college affairs.

NOTED EXPERT TO SEE PLAYGROUNDS

Count de Polignac, on Army Furlough, to Study Recreation.

Oakland's playgrounds and recreation equipment will receive an inspection early in October from Count de Polignac, widely known French athlete and sponsor for athletics among youths in the continental republic. Polignac is at present on furlough from an aviation corps in the army of France, having been assigned by his government to the duty of inspecting and securing data of American recreation systems.

With this in mind, Count de Polignac wrote to city officials today, telling them that his immediate inspection of Oakland's recreation system was impossible. He is called to New York and will leave immediately for the East. After finishing his business in the metropolis, he assures the officials that his time schedule calls for a return trip West, and that he will then make his examination.

To Count de Polignac and other interested men in the European republic, France owes its present advance in athletics. The country has displayed by France in the judgment of the aviator as to playground and recreation matters is the result of his years of experience.

The first of 15 lessons will be given at the Vocational high school, Thirteenth and Market streets, Saturday morning. The fire started on the Graham ranch and spread to adjoining orchards, causing several thousand dollars damage, it is estimated. Garcia lost his life in attempting to save his companion.

Furthermore, complaint has been filed against him in the Luna county court for passing worthless checks on several merchants of Deming, N. M. The Columbia is ready for the opening Sunday afternoon and Oakland football admirers expect the biggest house the little playhouse has ever experienced when the doors reopen for the initial performance.

May Wedding Arrives in Court by Autumn

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—Application for a divorce by Mrs. Helen Saxe from her husband, Arthur Cook Saxe, has caused a stir in San Francisco society. The Saxe romance, now broken by the bride's appeal to the courts, began last spring when their marriage was a social event of importance.

Mrs. Saxe alleges "bodily cruelty," together with the mental variety and complaints that she spent five days in hospital as a result of her husband's abuse. She is living with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. James W. Ward, at the Fairmont Hotel. Saxe is a University of California graduate, where he was active in college affairs.

REV. HOLLMANN TO REMAIN IN CITY

Annual Conference Names Him Again for Post at Local Church.

Rev. F. F. Hollmann has been re-appointed pastor of the German First Methodist church of Oakland and Rev. J. Schneider as pastor of Salem German Methodist church by the twenty-sixth annual conference of the California German Methodist church. The conference closed a week's convocation in San Francisco yesterday, when the appointments of ministers throughout the State were announced by Bishop Adna Wright.

A program by the Women's Foreign and Home Missionary Societies was a feature of the closing session last night at which Bishop Leonard ordained Richard Matthis to the office of deacon's elder. Rev. J. H. Durbahn, Los Angeles, was reappointed district superintendent of the California district.

Following were the appointments announced by Bishop Leonard: To Anaheim and Orange, R. Zurbachan; to Chico, William Schultz; Los Angeles First church and Emanuel's mission, Otto Wilke and H. D. Kamp; Los Angeles Bethel church, Charles Friesling; South Hollywood, E. Klawitter; Fresno, C. Spoeth and E. C. Jannusch; Pasadena, William Reager; Oakland First church, H. F. Hollmann; Salem church, Oakland, J. Schneider; St. John's church, San Francisco, G. A. Maass; St. Paul's church, San Francisco, R. Brinkmeyer; San Jose, H. C. Gentry; Santa Cruz, R. Matthis; Santa Rosa, R. Steinbach; Stockton, E. C. Jannusch. The San Pedro, Wilmington and Abila districts will be supplied with pastors later.

The majority of the pastors have been reappointed to their former charges, the exceptions being those of Fresno, Anaheim and probably San Pedro, Wilmington and Abila.

E. Klawitter was appointed superintendent of the Pacific Old People's Home; Dr. G. Guth was named as agent of the conference for the nutty fund and Henry Hillmer as missionary to India.

Censorship Board Is Killed; 14-3 Is Vote

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—By a vote of 14 to 3 the supervisors yesterday abolished the board of censorship. Sponsored by a delegation of women representing civic organizations, the proponents of censorship made a determined effort to prevent the death of the ordinance. Miss Margaret Curry, president of the California Club; Miss Russell Ward, secretary of the California Club; Mrs. L. B. Herman, representing the Juvenile Protective Association; and Miss Florence Musto, recently appointed representative of the Board of Education, were present. Miss Ward acted as spokeswoman.

The ordinance recommended by a committee provides for a censor to be named by the chief of police. The former board consisted of five members, one each named by the Mayor, chief of police, board of education, Society for Prevention to Cruelty to Children and motion picture proprietors.

Recreation Experts to Discuss Methods

GRAND RAPIDS, Sept. 12.—A system of play for little boys and girls to fit them physically to take up the defense of their home land as powerful men and women later in life is the program of the International Recreation Congress, which will meet here from the 1st to the 6th of October.

About 20,000 Americans, play experts, business men and women, community building leaders, social workers, educators, political leaders and physicians representing 432 American cities, have been invited to attend. They will discuss "Making Men for America," "Can an Indoor Nation Live Endure?" "Leisure—America's Greatest Unworked Mine of Social Power," "Better Farming People," "Marketing Through Better Use of Rural Leisure."

The meetings are to be open.

Buildings Destroyed by Fire in Colma

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—With a bucket brigade trying vainly to stop the spread of the flames, and with every telephone line out of commission and the town completely isolated from outside communication, Colma, just over the line in San Mateo county, was the prey last night of a blaze that consumed five buildings and did about $25,000 worth of damage before it was checked.

Only by the good offices of a company of the San Francisco Fire Department, which crossed the line and helped stretch hose for a distance of a mile from Daly City to Colma, was the little community saved.

About twenty years ago he came into national prominence by holding himself responsible for the loss of $17,000 from the bank, perpetrated during the noon hour by a man named West, who later died in the State prison.

OROVILLE, Sept. 13.—An honest man has been found. He is Nor Kha, a lowly Afghanistani who ago he was given a check by Theodore Arnold, a Griddle rancher, for $50 for labor. Finally, he paid it to Mrs. Margaret Arnold, the deceased rancher's mother.

INDIAN CONFESSES KILLING RELATIVE

Andrade and Wife Admit They Burned Body of Son-in-Law.

Confession of one of the most atrocious crimes in the history of Alameda county is in the hands of the authorities today, made by Robert Andrade and his wife, Marie A. Andrade, who admit, it is said, the murder of Jesus Espinosa, their son-in-law, and the burning of his body.

According to the story of the crime, the Andrades, their daughter, Henrietta Espinosa, and her husband, had been successful in obtaining a contract for picking grapes in a vineyard near Livermore, and had gone to the Espinosa home to celebrate.

Prior to the visit to the Espinosa home, Andrade and his son-in-law had been drinking in a Livermore saloon. It is said, they quarreled, later resuming the fight at the home, where Andrade says he struck Espinosa with a heavy chain. He fell to the floor. Believing him dead, Andrade, after consultation with his wife, obtained a quantity of coal oil and pouring it over his prostrate form, touched a match to the clothing and then fled the place, according to the confession.

The wife and her parents went into Livermore by a circuitous route, leaving the house to be burned down. An investigation of the fire by Constable Markin Locke later, resulted in the finding of Espinosa's body, which bore marks of violence and his relatives were then sought.

Constable Locke notified District Attorney Hynes and Sheriff Barnard with the result that Andrade, his wife and daughter were arrested and lodged in the county jail. The husband and wife late last night confessed. Deputy District Attorney Myron Harris and Deputy Sheriff J. J. Collier believe that they will also obtain a confession from the murdered man's wife that she witnessed the tragedy.

Bankers Will Teach Average Man to Save

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 12.—When the American Bankers' Association meets in this city, two weeks hence, President Frank A. Vanderlip of the National City Bank of New York and other financial geniuses will discuss plans to teach Americans of moderate means to save their money.

A special committee of the association has been investigating this matter for more than a year, and its report is said to contain some surprises for Mr. Average Citizen concerning his pennies, quarters, dimes and dollars.

The American people of the rank and file, for all their aspirations to live well, have grown quite frugal, though not stingy, it is said. Still there could be a great deal more money saved by the individual that would not take away from him any of the necessities and modest luxuries he now enjoys, it is claimed.

The business sessions will occupy the bankers September 28 and 29.

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 12.—Mrs. Mary Brundage, seventy-five-year-old widow of the late Superior Judge Ben Brundage, a pioneer of Kern county, has registered as freshman in the Kern County High School, and will study the Spanish language. Firemen's Lecture Tour Shortened

City Department Orators Balk at Program

As forensic artists and silver-tongued orators Fire Chief Elliott Whitehead and his chief assistants, McGrath, Barr and Lucky, are good firemen. They admit it—but they deny that as firemen they are twelve-cylindered, eighty-horsepower orators. No, indeed.

So there is trouble in the ranks of the fire department. A week ago, Commissioner F. F. Jackson told A. C. Barker, city school prepared to give a lecture in each school in the city on fire prevention. They thought they'd have about two months to do it in. But today Barker submitted a schedule to Jackson, providing that the four firemen act as orators in all of the city's schools during this present week. "I refuse," Whitehead told Jackson, "to let the town burn up while my men and I devote our entire time to lecturing on fire prevention. No, it's not reasonable."

Jackson agreed. Barker had mapped out nine schools to be spoken in today, ten for tomorrow—forty-two in all for the five school days of the week. There will be another schedule made out, immediately, and it will take almost two months for these speeches to be made. Superintendent, that Whitehead, Barr, Lucky and McGrath were

New Naval Laboratory May Come to Coast

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Rear Admiral Benson, United States Navy, chief of the bureau of operations, has declared that, in his judgment, the proposed $1,500,000 naval research and experimental laboratory provided in the last Navy bill should be located at some point which has water deep enough to float the largest battleships. The Admiral said there was no reason why the laboratory could not be located on the Pacific Coast.

A Baby Grand Piano for $495

Nearly everybody who owns a piano hopes some day to be the proud possessor of a Grand Piano—herefore the greater cost of a Grand Piano has prevented the realization of this hope.

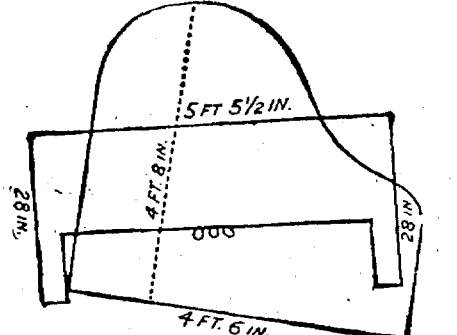

The Grand Piano is becoming more and more the Piano of the refined home—there is nothing which could be put into the living-room or drawing-room which would give as much distinction as a Grand Piano. Because of the growing demand for an inexpensive Grand and because the instrument which we would offer must be of that dependable quality for which we have been known so many years, we have had built for us the ALDRICH BABY GRAND. The specifications agreed upon by the manufacturers and ourselves are such that we can fully commend its value as a musical instrument and protect it with our guarantee.

The ALDRICH BABY GRAND is the most remarkable little Grand made. The keyboard is identically the same as the larger and more expensive Grands. The tone is clear and full—it comes out freely, whereas in an upright the tone is shut in. Cased in choice mahogany, this little Grand is pleasing to the eye as well as to the ear.

Another remarkable feature of the ALDRICH BABY GRAND—it takes up no more room than the ordinary upright. In fact, when placed across a corner or in a nook, it will not take up as much room as an upright. The diagram shows the relative size and shape of the upright and the ALDRICH BABY GRAND. Upon request (by phone or postal card) we will gladly mail (without charge) a tissue paper pattern the exact size of this little grand, which when spread out on the floor will show how conveniently it will fit your room.

The price of the ALDRICH BABY GRAND is $495. If desired we will arrange very convenient payment terms. If you have an upright piano we will make a generous allowance on it toward this wonderful little Grand.

MODJESKA CENTER OF LOVE PLOT

Triangle Mystery Involves Son of Polish Actress, Wife of a Chicago Baker, Own Spouse and Pretty Little Cottage

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 12.—Further search to establish the identity of the moving picture actor for whom Frank Darpols, a Chicago baker, is said to have surrendered his attractive wife, leads along a trail of surprising revelations.

Mrs. Darpols, whose husband, in Chicago is said to have financed her trip to California that she might join her new-found love, was located last Sunday at the Felix Modjeska cottage at East Newport, and there she was extremely uncommunicative regarding the identity of the man in her strange romance.

Last night a reported friend, Mrs. Felix Modjeska in an apartment at 5650 Sunset boulevard, and she made the startling statement that while she had met Mrs. Darpols some months ago at the Modjeska home in Glendale, Mrs. Darpols is "the guest of Mr. Modjeska" at the Newport cottage and not "my guest." Also Mrs. Modjeska announced her intentions of filing suit for divorce on grounds of desertion.

"Whether he is the moving picture actor for whom Mrs. Darpols left her husband in Chicago I do not know," said Mrs. Modjeska. "That is her affair. I met Mrs. Darpols some months ago in Glendale, where Mr. Modjeska and I were living. He was in moving pictures. Mrs. Darpols went to our Newport cottage as his guest, not mine, and a servant and our two children accompanied them."

School Uniforms? Never! They Say They Won't Do in the West at All! Kansas City Problem Is Not Here

Interest aroused by the move of Kansas City clubs to legislate a uniform dress for the high school girls of that city is reflected here today in organization circles, and a radical difference with the eastern view seems to hold among Oakland clubwomen and educators.

The Civic Commission of the Council of Clubs in Kansas City adopted a resolution, to be presented at the next meeting of the board of education there, whereby a uniform dress shall be adopted by that body for high school girls. Rivalry in dress, which finally ended in two girls refusing to attend school because they could not dress as well as others, brought the matter to a head and before the council.

Oakland high school principals, members of the board of education and clubwomen were questioned today as to their views on the matter of dress—and almost without exception held against the Kansas view-point.

"We are interested more in the cut of the dress than the cost," said Principal P. M. Fisher of the Technical High School. "It is an old question which agitates club circles, and we school teachers every so often, but we, as good Americans, have no right to say to other people's children what color and material they shall wear."

"Should we ask them to wear a uniform dress, the thing might ramify until we were dictating to the freshmen to wear only one color or the sophomores another—and so on up the line. Even should we get the uniform color dress, how could we stop wealthy parents from putting more expensive material of the uniform color into use?"

Action by the schools as to graduation dresses was considered by Fisher another matter. In this case he thought that a limitation as to cut and expense was a school authority matter. Limitation otherwise was not for the board of education, but rather for the parents.

"I am for putting a limit on the cut of a dress, not cost. We do not want ballroom dresses in our classrooms. If anything is done, the parents and teachers should get together on the question of the cut of the school-girl dress, not the cost."

Principal C. E. Keyes of the Oakland High School said: "I have never approved of the uniform idea—providing, always, that things go the same way they are now. We have nothing of which to complain at the high school here. I do believe in simplicity, though."

Mrs. Harriet Hawes of the Board of Education, and herself a prominent clubwoman, agreed that high school girls overdress in many cases. "Mothers and parents should regulate the clothing of their high school daughters. I do believe that there is a tendency of a few thoughtless ones to overdress, but I am not in favor of the Kansas City idea."

And so the matter stands. East is East and West is West, and never the twain shall meet in the question of uniform high school dress for girls! Kansas City, the town of devils—home of cows and calves and pigs—Kansas City, home of the troublesome question, shall not "pass the buck" along to Oakland. Things go very well as they are here—why, then, change them? Kansas City, please answer.

ONE KILLED IN PLUNGE OF AUTO

Deputy District Attorney McSharry of Fresno County Is Drowned.

FRESNO, Sept. 12.—Deputy District Attorney John P. McSharry was killed near here during the night when an automobile in which he was returning from a day in court at Coalinga, missed a bridge and plunged into a ditch. McSharry, unconscious from the collision, was thrown into the water and drowned. He was dead when searchers, using searchlights, found him.

James Gearhart, shorthand reporter, and at one time champion typist of the United States, who was with McSharry in the automobile, was slightly hurt. McSharry was the chief electrician of the Pacific Gas & Electric Company of San Francisco. He is survived by a wife and four small children.

Driver Knocks Over Highwayman With Car

Two highwaymen made an unsuccessful attempt to hold up H. S. Smith, 5424 Foothill boulevard, and Mrs. Smith late last night, while the two were returning in their automobile to their home from Smith's place of business at 1427 Park street, Alameda. The attempted hold-up occurred on High street, on the Alameda side of the eastern bay. Smith was furnished a good description of the men to the police.

One of the men stood before the car and ordered Smith to bring it to a stop. When he slowed down at the peremptory command, the other sought to leap on the running board. Smith increased the speed, swerved the machine to one side, knocked the would-be highwayman to the road and made his escape.

of the Oakland Merchants' Exchange tonight will be a talk on San Diego by Charles H. J. Truman, one of the directors. Truman has just returned from a trip to the fair in the southern city and will tell of the Alameda county exhibit and other features. The Alameda county exhibit is among the finest at the exposition and has already resulted in securing much valuable publicity for Oakland and other east bay communities.

THE BLUEBIRD BUREAU

Department of Good Fellows

A young man of about 22 has appealed to us for assistance in securing him a position. He is attending school in the day time and would like a few hours' work in the evening. Some kind of clerical work or as a night watchman would be suitable though he will do anything at all. He seems very conscientious and ambitious to work, so we feel that he would make good most any place.

A lady friend of ours would like a young girl of about 17 or 18 to assist a little with light housework and stay with her baby occasionally in return for a good home and small pay.

We wish that the lady who wrote us in regard to her taking a year old baby and giving it a home, would communicate with us direct. We feel certain that we can inform her where she can get a nice little child about the age she wants.

The following letter was received this morning and we shall make an effort to help this little lady all we can:
"Blue Bird Bureau, Oakland TRIBUNE Office.
"Respected Sirs: I have been left a widow with a young daughter to care for and my circumstances are so that I am obliged to appeal to the bureau for some help." I am more than willing to work and help myself if I can have a few furnishings to make me comfortable. I am taking a small but old cottage to put my few belongings in, but find that I have no clothes or places to put clothes in, so thought if the kind friends who are every ready to help a little those who are so unfortunate as to be left alone without means, could find me a bureau, chiffonier, or cabinet, I would be most grateful. There are no drawers to put my clothes or sewing in, as I expect to do all I can with the needle. Any work that may come to you would be greatly appreciated by me. At present I am staying with friends, so if you can get any of the above things for me, I shall never forget you.

"Very truly yours,
(Signed) "MRS. Q."

We are still soliciting employment for the mother with the two children. She does all kinds of chattering, has her own typewriter which would permit her to do copying, filing in circulars and addressing. She has the best reference and a very good letter of recommendation from her last employer. Mrs. Q. needs the work and needs it badly and since she is a good, conscientious, honest, reliable woman, why not give her a chance to prove her ability and make a livelihood for herself and little children.

ALAMEDA COUNTY CHORUS TO SING

Splendid Concerts to Be Given During Exposition at Civic Auditorium.

Alexander Stewart, director of the Alameda County Chorus of 350 voices, is arranging a most attractive program for the visitors who will attend the First Annual Industrial Exposition to be held at the Civic Auditorium during "Try Oakland First" week, September 23-30.

Two special concerts will be given by the Alameda County Chorus during the week in the auditorium, Monday, September 25, and Thursday, September 28. One of the features in connection with the concert will be the appearance of the Golden Gate Male Quartet. The members of the quartet are Charles Case, first tenor; Carl Edwin Anderson, second tenor; Lowell Redfield, first bass; and Henry L. Perry, second bass. Each of these singers is a soloist of prominence in local circles and the combination of their voices makes for an ensemble of the highest character. They will be heard in some of their most popular selections at the concert Monday evening.

Another feature in connection with the Alameda County Chorus is the appearance of Thomas Askin, the well-known baritone actor of Los Angeles. Askin was one of the attractions at the recent convention of the California Music Teachers' Association at the San Diego Exposition. He features English ballads, many of them in dialect, in which he possesses a dramatic character of the songs by a combination of singing, acting and pantomime. Possessing a baritone voice of rich quality, pure diction and dramatic ability, Askin brings a rare combination to his art.

HOW MAGNESIA HELPS DYSPEPTICS

Patent Foods, Dieting and Medicines No Longer Necessary.
Many dyspeptics have now discontinued the use of expensive patent foods, are eating what they please, in reason yet no longer take harmful drugs, medicines and artificial digestants to relieve their stomach trouble. Instead they just take a teaspoonful of pure bisulphate of magnesia in a little water after meals, with the result that not only does the stomach but enjoy much better health and the stomach no longer gives them trouble.
Those who have once tried bisulphate of magnesia never dread the approach of meal time because they know that this powerful acid and food corrective which absolutely does not injure the stomach and which can be obtained at little cost at almost any drug store will instantly neutralize all their excessive stomach acidity and thereby restore the possibility of their food souring or fermenting in the stomach. Try this plan yourself, but be sure to get bisulphate of magnesia in other forms often have a strong laxative effect which is not desirable. Advertisements.

SPEDDY DIVORCE DECREE IS FINAL

Former Member of Alameda Board of Education Given Last Papers.

"Fins" has been written for the divorce contest between Mrs. Henrietta T. Speddy, former member of the Alameda Board of Education, and Speddy, steel company agent who came to the parting of their ways nearly two years ago. Speddy has taken out a final decree of divorce.

The couple were married in 1890, and in February, 1915, Speddy sued for divorce. Her husband answered and entered a cross-complaint, airing their differences in a bitter contest. Speddy finally obtained a decree and departed for a ranch in the south after resigning her official position in Alameda. "I came from Montenegro and my husband is an Austrian," explained Mrs. Henrietta Speddy in Superior Judge Donahue's court, when she obtained an interlocutory decree of divorce from J. Radonich. She testified that her husband had treated her cruelly, and when asked by the judge if she knew of her husband, said: "Yes, the European war." Then she went on to explain.

Coming to his home at 1437 Seventeenth street during a spree, Isham T. Garner announced to his wife that he had drawn their joint savings out of the bank and intended to abandon her, and did so, according to a divorce complaint filed today on grounds of extreme cruelty by Grace M. Garner.

Threats to kill are alleged against W. H. Gregory, owner of a coast market at 129 Oak street, in a divorce complaint filed today by Mrs. Ola Gregory, and simple desertion was charged by Mrs. Catherine A. Cook in a divorce suit filed against Henry J. Cook, a mechanic.

Orrin Wilson Leaves Fortune to Brother

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—The will of Orrin Wilson, polo player who was killed by falling from his horse at Del Monte three weeks ago, has been filed for probate by his brother, Charles E. Wilson Jr., of Iowa.

Wilson bequeaths his estate, consisting of sixty-five shares of stock in the Wilson Realty Company, valued at $50,000, to his brother with the provision that the income from the stock is to be paid during her lifetime to their mother, Mrs. Hannah Fitzmaurice Wilson.

STRUCK BY AUTO.

Elliott Whitehead Jr., 16-year-old son of Oakland's fire chief, is suffering from a fractured right arm, as the result of colliding with an automobile last night while riding a motorcycle. The accident occurred at Tenth and Broadway. The injured youth was treated at the emergency hospital.

HUSBAND SUES; WIFE WINS.

Mrs. Sadie Enos of East Oakland has succeeded in a convincing Superior Judge Waste that she is entitled to a divorce and has won an interlocutory decree from Joseph Enos on her cross-complaint charging him with cruelty. Enos commenced suit last May and his wife contested his allegations.

GRIP OF JAPAN ON KOREA GROWS

Political Marriage Is Planned to Submerge Nobility of Prince Li.

TOKIO, Sept. 12.—Another step in the plan of the Japanese government to bring about the amalgamation of the peoples of Japan and Korea was announced today. Prince Li, heir of the former emperor of Korea, will soon marry a Japanese princess of the blood. The emperor already has sanctioned the match and the date for the wedding will be announced in a few months.

The match, which will be largely of a political nature, was arranged by Marshal Count Terauchi, governor-general of Korea, who came to Tokio a few months ago in the role of Cupid.

After the marriage the young

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—"Not so loud! Here, take this," said W. H. Lucas, labor union official, to a pair of holdup men who stopped him in front of his home about midnight, and he handed them his roll of $10. They hopped into an automobile and drove away.

"My wife's expecting the stork and rather than cause any excitement I gave up the money without a fuss," Lucas told the police.

Today, still awaiting the important event, Mrs. Lucas was without knowledge of the midnight holdup.

prince, who is now serving in the imperial army, will reside in Tokio, with a villa in Seoul.

The former emperor of Korea also may move to Tokio to spend his declining years.

The heir-apparent has been educated in Japanese schools and attire.

He is said to be handsome.

MYSTERIOUS WIDOW IN FAMOUS CASE

Woman Said to Have Obtained
Fortune From Aged Millionaire.

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—The entrance of a mysterious widow into the case of Edward W. Morrison, eccentric reclusive millionaire, caused Federal Judge Landis to urge a search for the widow, said to be a "Mrs. Teckla Gephart" of Los Angeles, Cal. Morrison, it is charged, was fleeced out of several hundred thousand dollars.

James R. Ward, Morrison's deposed lawyer and present holder of about $1,500,000 of the aged millionaire's estate, testified that $18,000 of Morrison's money went to Mrs. Gephart in part payment of a note.

Ward was vague regarding Mrs. Gephart's present whereabouts, but he thought she was in Los Angeles, he said. Judge Landis said he would ask the Los Angeles police to locate her.
